

Senate Defeats 2 Attempts to Slash Foreign Aid Funds

Morse Fails to Lop Off Cash for Defense Allies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate beat back today two attempts to reduce the $3,299,000 foreign aid money bill, apparently heeding President Johnson's plea against further cuts in funds "needed for our own security and well being."

The Morse amendment was Johnson's plea against further cuts in funds "needed for our own security and well being."

It rejected 55 to 28 an amendment by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to reduce funds for supporting economic assistance to defense pact allies from $380 million to the $300 million voted by the House.

Send Amendment Lost
It next defeated 53 to 34 an amendment by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., to cut these funds from $380 to $350 million.

Morse Charges Waste
Morse contended "hundreds of millions of dollars" are being wasted on such assistance to Formosa, South Korea and other countries. He said the military forces of most of them could be "licked by ten Boy Scout troops" and their real defenses rest with U.S. military troops.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., floor manager for the bill, argued that the funds enable countries on the periphery of com-

Widespread Hunt for Killer Of Woman at Black Creek

Mrs. Marvin Kilsdonk Stabbed to Death in Presence of Infant Son

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

BLACK CREEK — An unknown assailant who fatally stabbed a pretty Black Creek housewife early Wednesday morning nine times in the presence of her 2-month-old son, then fled, leaving the mother lying in a pool of blood under a kitchen table and the baby unharmed is the object of a statewide police hunt today.

Outagamie County Sheriff authorities have yet to come up with a motive into the brutal slaying of Mrs. Florence Kilsdonk, 28, route 1, Black Creek, whose mutilated body was found about 2:30 p.m. by her husband, Marvin, 29.

State crime laboratory specialists moved into the fields and area surrounding the slate-white farmhouse, a half-mile east of Black Creek on State 54, shortly after 10 a.m. today seeking clues to the slayer. Sheriff officials sealed the home off after they completed a preliminary investigation before 10 p.m. Wednesday. An armed deputy stood guard in the farmhouse overnight.

Sheriff Calvin Spice said his department is questioning two suspects, but he would not elaborate. One of the suspects is believed related to the dead woman.

Second Hoffa Lawyer Disbarred By U. S. Judges

Another was allegedly seen sleeping in his car Wednesday morning near the farmhouse where the murder took place.

Menasha Man
Late Wednesday, Winnebago County police took the suspect, Harry Beard Jr. of Lebanon, a rural Menasha man, into custody. He was taken to the Outagamie County jail where he der signed Wednesday by U.S. Dist. Judges William E. Miller and Frank Gray Jr.

The judges accused Beard of discussing with Z. T. Osborn Jr., Hoffa's Nashville lawyer, proposals on how to get a juror to vote for the acquittal of Hoffa, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. Osborn was disbarred by the judges last month and subsequently indicted by a federal grand jury.

Osborn, the judges said, asked Beard to contact the husband of a juror and offer him $10,000. The grand jury indictment in the Osborn case identified the juror's husband as D. M. Harrison.

Last of 3 Brothers At Helm of Great Diversified Firm

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Irene du Pont, 86, last of the three brothers who led the Du Pont company from a small explosives manufacturing concern to the position of the world's largest diversified firm, died here today. He had been 111 for some time.

Du Pont, who made $2 a week on his first job, was president of the Du Pont empire for seven years, 1919-1926. Upon his retirement he became vice chairman of the board, a position he held until 1940. He served as a member of the finance committee until 1945.

He severed formal connection with the firm in May 1959 when he retired from the board of directors to be succeeded by his son, Irene Jr. But he maintained active interest, visiting his office daily as long as his health permitted.

Played Major Role
Born Dec. 21, 1876 near Wilmington, Du Pont always said he based his industrial success on three principles: (1) It's nice to be friendly with competitors. (2) A business fails when it doesn't make money. (3) Sometimes a man has to swear at his colleagues to drive home a point.

Du Pont had a strong formative role in the growth of the billion-dollar-a-year firm founded by his great-grandfather in 1802. As president he led the company into major areas of diversification, directed its reorganization into the decentralized lines under which it now operates.

The seventh Du Pont to head the business, he was the second of the three brothers who in succession were presidents. Pierre S. Du Pont, the eldest, died in 1954. Lamont Du Pont, the youngest, died in 1952.

Visibility times of the polka-dot satellite were not calculated, but a NASA spokesman said it would be whenever and wherever the orbit coincided with twilight around the globe.

White polka dots, 3,400 of them 2 1/4 inches wide and 400 just 1 1/4 inches wide, were painted on the silvery skin to block some of the sun's rays and thus keep radio gear inside from getting too hot.

Primary mission of the satellite was to help scientists measure density of the atmosphere at high altitudes. Plans called for a worldwide network of radio and telephone communications—tend to compact the upper air and make it more dense.

Black Creek Shocked

Telephone Party Line Reveals Fear Engendered by Murder of Woman

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

BLACK CREEK—When investigators Wednesday lifted the receiver of the multi-party telephone line which led into the Kilsdonks, he shook his head in disbelief.

A housewife who lived next door to the Kilsdonk farm had been seeking work recently. The dead woman had been in the house for a while. She was a good friend of the Kilsdonks. He shook his head in disbelief.

The voices on the other end of the line were talking of murder. Investigators were in the home checking the morbid details which surrounded the death of pretty Mrs. Florence Kilsdonk, 28, the wife for seven years of Marvin Kilsdonk, 29, a milk truck driver.

Relinquished Line
Telephone users on the Kilsdonk party line were cooperative in relinquishing the telephone to authorities who needed it for official use.

"Baby a Blessing"
"The baby was a real blessing," said a young relative of the couple. "They had waited so long. Marvin was especially happy," the woman said. The child was unharmed.

The Kilsdonk baby was born Oct. 6 at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Not only along the telephone lines did this community talk Kilsdonk had a normal pregnancy and seemed happy about the baby after she came home from the hospital.

Mrs. Kilsdonk quit her job with a Neenah school supply firm four months ago to have the baby. Her husband said she clutched at her heart when questioned by authorities as to any possible leads into the death.

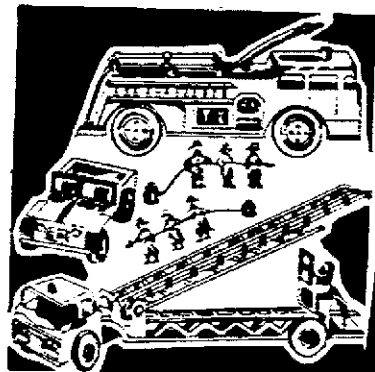

She said she was afraid, and sister-in-law she was in Appleton had placed two loaded guns in the living room. Her husband, a had purchased a bow and arrow and set and some toy soldiers for several younger relatives. The gifts were unwrapped in the sewing room.

Farm Partnership
Authorities learned that Kilsdonk has lived at the farmhouse four years. Up until last summer, he farmed in a partnership with his brother, Richard.

Appleton Council Okays Mayor's Salary Increase

Pay Raised to $12,000 for 1964 and $13,000 in 1965; Buckley Excused From Voting

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The candidate who emerges victorious in the race for mayor or next spring will receive an annual salary of $12,000 in 1964 and $13,000 in 1965.

Pay hikes for Appleton's chief executive, who presently gets $10,500 a year, were approved Wednesday night by the common council by a 16 to 0 vote.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell, seeking his fourth term, was unable to attend the meeting because of having to represent the city at a public gathering.

Ald. George Buckley (14th) announced candidate for mayor in the April 7, 1964 election, was excused from voting at his request.

Committee Recommendation
The hike in the mayor's salary was recommended, along with some fringe benefits for city employees, by the personnel committee. The latter held an unannounced meeting Monday night and took its action.

Minutes of the committee meeting said Buckley took no part in the discussion or decision on raising the salary of the man who will be mayor in 1964.

After reminding his colleagues he was a candidate for mayor, Buckley said, "As a matter of legal and personal ethics I request that I be excused from voting on this item."

Under state law, elective officials cannot receive an increase in salary during their term of office. Last year the council intended to raise the mayor's salary but was precluded from doing so because of the law. Other city employees did receive a hike.

Although Ald. Al C. Fischer (15th) requested a separate vote on the matter, there was no opposition to increasing the salary of the city's No. 1 elective official as of May 1, 1964.

Had Been Excluded
When salaries of other officials and municipal employees were increased the last two times, the mayor was excluded.

Ald. E. V. Krueger (11th), personnel committee chairman, said he felt the chief executive of the city should be paid a salary commensurate with his duties and major responsibilities.

Krueger explained that under the present salary schedule, the department of public works director could conceivably earn more than the mayor, the maximum pay range being $11,700 a year. Krueger said $10,500 was not enough to pay a mayor in a city of Appleton's size.

That Appleton's mayor has been underpaid for "at least 10 years now" was expressed by Ald. Harold Hannemann (10th), council president and finance committee chairman.

"I don't care whoever is the mayor, the position should pay what has been recommended here tonight, or even more," Hannemann commented. He

Red Feather Goal Exceeded by $7.89

Walter Rugland, Campaign Chief, Reports to Board of Directors

The United Red Feather campaign which exceeded their quotas and pained inched past its goal for the ward chairmen were Ward the first time since 1957, with 4, Tom Daly; Ward 6, Clyde $173,150.80, or $7.89 over its goal, Coenen; Ward 9, Mrs. Sidney collected, Walter Rugland, campaign chairman, reported to the board of directors of United Community Services today.

Exceeded was a goal of $173,143 for the 10 Red Feather agencies for 1964. It is 9.1 per cent more than given for these services through last year's campaign.

In reviewing the 1964 allocations to agencies, Melvyn Hemmen, budget chairman, pointed out that in spite of the increased amount, it will be possible to allocate only 4 per cent more to agencies than during 1963.

To meet 1963 agency allocations the Scouts $22,250; Catholic Activities $4,500; Children's Service Society $4,700; Girl Scouts $16,500; Golden Age Club $1,500; Lutheran Welfare Services $9,000; Salvation Army $11,500; Visiting Nurse Association $17,500; YMCA $39,490; UCS $20,095. A reserve for uncollectible pledges was set up for $1,500 and a contingency reserve reached 101 per cent with W. W. Robertson as chairman.

Large Firms Division
The large firms division, led by Henry Bailey, was the top division, reaching 104 per cent of quota. The commercial division 500 and a contingency reserve reached 101 per cent with W. W. Robertson as chairman.

Teams reaching their quotas and their team captains were national retail firms, Morris Wood; banks and finance, Calvin Falk; life insurance, Herbert Krueger; other commercial, Don Smith; community organizations, Robert Tucker; colleges and hospitals, Douglas Harmes; dentists, Dr. L. I. Christianson; clergy, the Rev. Marvin Schilling, the Rev. Leonard Ziener, the Rev. W. H. Gammell and the Rev. W. C. McKinnon.

In the general solicitation division, Section 8D exceeded its quota with Mrs. Alfred Oliver as section leader. The wards

Appleton Asks Reynolds to Okay Pipeline

The Common Council wants Gov. Reynolds to sign bills which would allow Appleton to go to Lake Michigan with a water pipeline.

Aldermen passed a resolution Wednesday night to this effect and instructed City Clerk Elden Broehm to forward a copy to the governor.

The state legislature passed the bills a few weeks ago, and in a telegram to Mayor Clarence Mitchell, Gov. Reynolds said he would give the bills "every consideration."

Earlier in the week, the board of public works agreed to have a feasibility study made by a consulting firm to determine whether Lake Winnebago or Lake Michigan should be the city's future source for water.

The council also took action which would:

Permit the First National Bank to occupy about 22 feet of College Avenue during its construction project.

Renew a $11,000 a year contract with August Hackl for operation of the city's sanitary landfill at Mackville.

Appoint James Coleman deputy city welfare department director, a position which has been vacant since the retirement of Mrs. Gladys Lewis.

Rotary Club Gift

Special Van Given To Morgan School

A special van for transporting orthopedically handicapped children at Morgan School will be presented to the Appleton public schools in the name of the Appleton Rotary Club.

The van will be constructed so that the handicapped children in wheelchairs can remain than 31 years, Nock said. The club has donated much special sized equipment to the school, including sponsorship of the Appleton Rotary Club and an annual Christmas party and a spring picnic.

The gift was made possible through the generosity of Herbert Holz, a member of the Appleton Rotary Club and an active member of the club's orthopedic committee, and will be presented in behalf of the club.

A sign on the side of the white van will read "Morgan School Bus, Courtesy of Appleton Rotary Club."

Used for Transport
Use of the van, which will cost about $2,500, will be restricted to transportation of handicapped children, with first priority to the orthopedically handicapped, for school-sponsored activities and to and from school.

Roland Nock, principal of Morgan School, said that as children with more complex and crippling handicaps are enrolled at the school, they need more help. Many must be carried to and from taxis. Since the older children are heavy, this presents danger to them and the drivers, he said.

The van will be used for children in wheelchairs, and taxi service will continue to be provided for those who can walk, he said.

This Outagamie County farmhouse near Black Creek was visited sometime Wednesday morning by an unknown assailant who knifed Mrs. Marvin Kilsdonk, 28, while she worked in the kitchen of her home. Mrs. Kilsdonk's son, two-month-old Jeffery, was lying on the kitchen table when his mother was killed. The child is unharmed. The farmhouse is about one mile east of the village on State 54. De Bruin Spy Charge Dropped

Kaukauna Flier Still Prisoner Of Viet Cong in N. Viet Nam

KAUKAUNA—The Viet Cong Joseph H. DeBruin, also of route 30, route 3, on spy charges, DeBruin, a private airline flier, was shot down over Laos Sept. 5.

The message was relayed today by Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) to DeBruin's parents, Mr. and Mrs.

Nelson said the Pathet Lao has stated that DeBruin has not been released because it still is investigating "charges of paramilitary activities by Air America."

A recent attempt by the British ambassador to obtain DeBruin's release was unsuccessful, Nelson wrote. Nelson told Lester Balliet, Outagamie County Democratic party chairman, today that an International Red Cross representative was to have met Tuesday with a high-ranking Viet Cong official concerning a release.

Outcome Unknown
The senator told Balliet he did not know the outcome of that meeting. Balliet has been interceding with Nelson to help the organization Gordon A. But their son.

Mrs. DeBruin said today she and her husband considered the letter "very good news." She said this was the first word received on her son in almost two months. The DeBruins were told they could write to their son in October, but Mrs. DeBruin said they have not yet received a reply.

DeBruin's plane, a private craft chartered by the Vietnamese government, was on a supply-dropping mission for refugees when it was shot down over Tchephone, Laos.

Four Laotians and two other Americans composed the crew. The Pathet Lao said DeBruin was sole survivor of the crash. DeBruin is single. The other two Americans were married.

In October, a merchant who was near the prison compound where DeBruin supposedly is being held said he saw the flier and talked to him, and that DeBruin appeared to be in good condition. Parcels of clothing have been sent to the flier.

Heatina System Ignites Blaze
A defective heating system in a home at 215 E. Summer St. was responsible for a minor fire to a cupboard and floor joists about 9 a.m. today.

Appleton firemen said a overheated vent started the wooden partition of the cupboard on fire. The fire spread to the basement floor joists.

The home is rented by William Seward, an Appleton policeman.

Research concerning land use is the "big job" ahead, he said. Other reports were expected at the meeting later in the day.

Jefferson School Boy Scouts Hold Court of Honor

Boy Scout Troop 6 of Jefferson School held a court of honor Tuesday at the school. F. S. Ziemann is scoutmaster.

Jeff Huttenburg received his Life Scout award, and Eagle Scout Joel Klandermand received his gold palm for having earned 31 merit badges and for his service to scouting.

Two boys became Tenderfoot scouts, seven were recognized as Second Class scouts, three attained First Class rank and one received a merit badge.

David Fieser, Ralph Watts, Charles Boldt and Peter Lascelles will serve as patrol leaders for the coming term.

Following the formal ceremony, the Scouts and their parents had refreshments, exchanged gifts, and presented repaired toys to the Salvation Army for Christmas distribution to local needy children.

Much of the operating expense of Troop 6 is earned through the annual sale of Christmas wreaths. Steve Watts was top salesman of the wreaths, followed in order by John Orblison, Rick Schomisch and Ed Spanagel.

Plane Capable
The public relations office at Sawyer Air Force Base

said an F-101 flown from that base was serving as a target or "decoy" plane for a group of Air National Guard planes out of Truax.

"The airplane is capable of breaking the sound barrier," the public relations officer said, "but there was nothing recorded in our sonic log. It's very possible that a Voodoo on a high altitude flight could have broken the sound barrier."

The base official was unable to check with the pilot who was flying again this morning.

The "Voodoo" left Sawyer at 8:45 p.m. (7:45 p.m. CST), so it's possible the plane could have been over the Fox Cities around 8:30 p.m.

The "Voodoo" was to be intercepted in the Fox Valley area by a flight of F-89s of the 179th Air National Guard at Truax Field.

'Voodoo' Jet Plane May Have Caused Apparent Sonic Boom

An apparent sonic boom over Appleton about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday may have been caused by an F-101 "Voodoo" jet aircraft out of K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Marquette, Mich.

Neeenah, Menasha and Appleton police and the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department, received several telephone calls complaining of a loud explosion-like sound and reverberations shortly after 8:29 p.m.

Officials at Truax Air Force Base in Madison said no planes from that field which were capable of causing a sonic boom were up. The only plane at Truax capable of breaking the sound barrier is the F-102, and none were airborne, according to base operations personnel.

The plane capabilities office at Sawyer Air Force Base

said an F-101 flown from that base was serving as a target or "decoy" plane for a group of Air National Guard planes out of Truax.

Johnson Meeting With Press May be Varied

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he will decide when and how to hold news conferences according to "what comes naturally."

What has come naturally to with newsmen—far oftener than him so far is something between Eisenhower and Kennedy—in the news conferences of Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman and those of Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy. Roosevelt and Truman met with newsmen—far oftener than him so far is something between Eisenhower and Kennedy—in their offices but what they said Dec. 8, was a coffee session. If Eisenhower and Kennedy held two conferences in 10 days, he could seldom be quoted directly, he keeps up his present pace. Their conferences in full view of will outdistance Eisenhower and cameras—in Kennedy's case, Kennedy and be more in the before live television cameras—Roosevelt-Truman tradition. And what they said was the public record.

Met Twice in 12 years, an average of 83. Johnson, like Roosevelt and Truman, has met twice with newsmen in his office, without erasing 41 a year: Eisenhower, benefit of television or radio, 198 conferences in eight years, but, like Eisenhower and Kennedy, 64. Kennedy, what he has said so far in just under three years, an average has been directly attributed to erage of 21 a year.

When the mood seizes him, Johnson may meet the press Eisenhower's could not be before live television cameras, leased until after the conference. He has foreclosed nothing specific.

Asked what kind of conference after an Eisenhower conference and pointed. Because Johnson went to real length Wednesday to answer some of the questions, there was a televised meeting tomorrow: went over the transcript of the only time to ask him 20. Kennedy's statements, since 25 and 30 questions and answers in about the same time.

gave them, instantly were public property.

The appearance of Eisenhower and Kennedy on television had a great public advantage.

All the people of the nation could watch their president in action and form their own judgments. But the meetings with the press had a couple of disadvantages. In the first place, they were huge affairs.

Minor Nature Thus they included newsmen with questions of a minor nature and of interest to only one locality, and perhaps a small one. Sometimes they were the kind that could have been answered by a call to a White House aide.

The transcript of the much smaller Johnson conferences, without the benefit of television, shows the reporters were able to concentrate on questions of national and international interest. The questions were short and pointed.

Because Johnson went to real length Wednesday to answer some of the questions, there was a televised meeting tomorrow: went over the transcript of the only time to ask him 20. Kennedy's statements, since 25 and 30 questions and answers in about the same time.

2 St. Elizabeth Hospital Employees Will Retire

A combined total of over 53 administrators when Miss De Jong celebrated her 31st birthday at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Dec. 11. Many changes have been witnessed by her since the December day in 1928 when she joined the hospital staff as a waitress. Under Sister Eulalia before establishment of a central cafeteria about 1947. Often when work was finished in the various rooms, the waitresses would help out in the laundry or other areas of the hospital doing domestic work. Sister Baptist was serving as poetry and song lyrics. Two of her poems have been published and two songs were recorded.

Miss Peters
Miss Peters has been with the hospital over 18 years. She was born at De Pere on Sept. 6, 1888.
Miss Peters worked for a candy wholesaler in Kalamazoo, Mich., for 30 years and as a cook-housekeeper for eight years.
Following the death of her father in 1940, Miss Peters moved to Appleton, and for five years helped her brother who was in the grocery business.
She started at St. Elizabeth Hospital on June 18, 1945, and has continuously worked in the main kitchen for more than 18 years. Sister Felicitas was her supervisor at the time of employment and until her retirement two years ago, at which time Sister Leander, dietitian, assumed responsibility for the main kitchen.
Following her retirement, Miss Peters plans to spend time with relatives in Appleton, De Pere and Kalamazoo.

Charlie Explains 'Instant' Readiness Of NORD in Case of Hostile Attack

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

TRUAX FIELD — Out of the frozen fastness of Siberia, 35 giant bombers climb into the subzero skies. They turn south, their copious bellies laden with nuclear bombs. Targets: Winnipeg, Gary, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, De Moines, Louisville, Memphis, Little Rock. These cities stand within the 30th NORAD Region with headquarters at Truax Field.

What could happen? Slowly, grandly, ominously they climb. Then, at 32,000 feet they fan out. Each settles on its separate course, each knowingly suicidal, but each dedicated to a mission.

Elements of the U. S. and Canadian aerospace defense systems quickly detect the planes. First three of them; then four, five, six. Early warning watchposts on the DEW Line equipped with 40 varieties of sophisticated electronic equipment pick up the southbound planes on radar. In moments, word is flashed to eight NORAD regional headquarters:

"Six unknowns flying south at 32,000 feet. Speed 900 mph. Weather -72 degrees."

The DEW Line is above and approximately parallel to the Arctic Circle from Point Barrow, Alaska to Baffin Island.

This is the second of a series of NORAD, North American Defense Command, with sector and regional headquarters at Truax Field, Madison.

north of Hudson's Bay. DEW-2 extends the line along the Aleutian Islands. DEW-East carries the line across northern Greenland.

The entire DEW Line stretches across 5,000 miles, the central section is manned by Canadians and the DEW - West is manned by Americans. Radar equipment picks up and tracks eight more bombers, then 10 more; then 11 more.

The BMEWS (Ballistic Early Warning Systems) pick up the invading aircraft, too, send the information back to the eight Regional headquarters and specifically to the International NORAD headquarters at Colorado Springs.

BMEWS is geared to detect and track ICBMS (Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles) and air-breathing equipment. The massive screens scans 3,000 miles over the North Pole to detect and track. There are three BMEWS stations—at Greenland, at Alaska and at England.

There is little doubt that the detected, south - flying aircraft are "hostiles," but they must be positively identified. Nevertheless, air stations across the northern sections of the continent "flush" aircraft, getting them off the ground.

Earthbound technicians, radars, Army, Air Force, Navy and RCAF units are alerted. Fighter planes are scrambled to get upstairs, make visual contact. It is part of the NORAD function: Detect, identify, intercept and, if necessary, destroy.

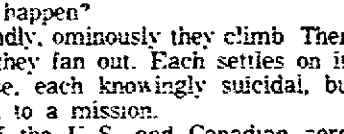

Here and there along the northern reaches of Canada, fighter planes have been scrambled for visual contact. The reports come in: These are Russian bombers. They decline to communicate by voice. They fly southward.

Warning Goes Out "Order them to turn back. Warn them that they have one minute or they will be destroyed." Those directions come to the pilots.

On the ground now and in the air, almost 200,000 men—American and Canadian—are alerted. Word flashes to Civil Defense agencies. Word goes to the Pentagon, to the President of the United States, to Parliament and to the Canadian Prime Minister.

In two great, windowless concrete buildings at Truax Field and elsewhere in NORAD sector headquarters, a USAF general, his Canadian counterpart and staffs sit in command posts studying television-like screens. This is SAGE, Semi-automatic Ground Environment system.

fighters are scrambled. An "electronic brain" flashes symbols on the screens, answers questions, makes suggestions, pinpoints oncoming planes.

An Air Force officer studies the south - flying bombers shown on his screen. He presses a button, then picks up a pistol - like instrument. He points it to the plane, presses a trigger. A photo - electric cell lights and a series of questions speeds into the computer, an International Business Machine.

One two three seconds pass and the questions are codified and flashed on to a panel. The questions fed into the computer are answered like this:

"The plane is flying at 32,000 feet, at a speed of 650 mph. Two American fighter jets, supersonic F-102 Delta Daggers have been dispatched and will reach the invader in one minute."

Wait on 'Hot Lines'

President Lyndon B. Johnson is on a "hot line" to NORAD headquarters, waiting for the ultimatum of "one minute" to pass. So are Canadian authorities. Across the nation, Civil Defense sirens scream out their.

warnings. Now the "flush" of American-Canadian aircraft has turned into a "scramble." Airborne are F-101 Voodoos, F-89J Scorpions and F-106 Delta Darts, capable of flying "faster" than 1,400 mph above 50,000 feet and with a range of more than 600 miles. Its nuclear air-to - air rockets can destroy many enemy bombers at once.

Airborne also are Army, Navy, Air Force and RCAF fighter planes, all now involved in grim aerospace defense. Planes carry GAR 3 and 4 Falcon rockets, MB-Genies and nuclear-capable weapons as well as conventional guns.

NIKE Squadrons Ready

Across the nation NIKE squadrons have been alerted. In the Midwest, NIKE-HERCULES missile batteries stand ready at Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Missouri. The big Nike birds have a range of 75 miles at three times the speed of sound. The missile uses a computer and guidance system and can strike down a bomber at altitudes ranging from fewer than 1000 feet to more than 100,000.

Alerted also, and ready, are U. S. Air Force squadrons prepared to dispatch the deadly Bomarc B pilotless interceptor missiles. In the Midwest, these stand at Duluth, Minnesota and Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan at probable paths of incoming hostiles.

The Bomarc can reach targets 400 miles away. Nuclear warheads can make big kills. The war birds are controlled through the SAGE system and can seek out their own targets.

Accident-Free

Container Corp.

MENASHA — Approximately 50 employees and guests of the Wisconsin Container Corp. marked a new safety record at a dan- ner at Hotel Menasha Wednes- daynight. Workers marked up a record of no lost time acci- dents in more than a year.

In recognition of the achieve- ment, a safety award plaque was presented to the company by D. R. Schmidt, vice presi- dent and general manager of Employers Mutual of Wausau, and William Berfield, Appleton, safety engineer for Employers Mutual.

The safety program was in- itiated in 1957 by union and man- agement to put more emphasis on accident prevention. Each year has shown steady improve- ment since then and contests with merchandise awards have helped to spur employees on to- ward their goal of safe working days. The safety program is headed by Lyle Gabrielson, re- presenting the company, and Joseph Rippl, representing the union.

Company representatives at the dinner were A. C. Kramer, president; W. E. Selnow, secre- tary-treasurer; and H. G. Phil- lips, plant superintendent. Royal F. Culbertson, representative of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, also was a guest.

Firm Hired to Design Garage

Orbison and Orbison Will Plan New Appleton Facility

An Appleton firm was hired by the common council Wednesday night to design a new municipal garage expected to cost between $400,000 and $500,000.

Awarded the contract for preparing plans was Orbison and Orbison, consulting engineers, Appleton.

They were selected by the board of public works. The council concurred.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues has indicated he wants the new garage started this summer. The facility would replace the outmoded Spencer Street garage.

Costs will be financed through a major bond issue the city hopes to float sometime in 1964. Money is in the budget for the plans preparation.

In other action, the council gave its okay to the plan commission recommendation that the city apply to the Wisconsin Resource Development Department for a 701 grant from the Federal Housing and Home Agency for urban planning assistance.

The city will have a comprehensive plan prepared over a two-year period for $105,000, with the federal government picking up two-thirds of the tab.

A St. Louis firm will prepare the plan, which will be comprised of several phases.

Charge Dropped When Witness Fails to Testify

A charge that a minor was found lingering in the Club 96, a teen-age beer bar east of the Appleton city limits on State 96, was dismissed in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 today when the state's major witness — a 16-year-old youth — failed to appear to testify.

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer asked that a jury trial hearing the charge against Robert Biechler, 34, 545 W. Kimberly Ave., Kimberly, owner of the Club 96, be continued until after the beginning of the year. Schaefer said the witness had called Schaefer this morning and said he was sick and could not attend the trial.

Schaefer said the witness had denied the motion and dismissed the action.

Schaefer sent the youth a subpoena last Thursday. He said he planned to call two more witnesses to testify.

Biechler was charged with the violation June 18th. He pleaded innocent and requested a jury trial. A $250 bond has been returned.

AHS Teacher Appointed to WEA Committee

Mark Seng, Latin and Spanish teacher at Appleton High School, has been appointed to serve on the international relations committee of the Wisconsin Education Association.

As part of its program, the committee plans to bring a group of foreign teachers to visit Appleton schools and industries next spring, Seng said. The teachers, mainly from Latin American countries, are teaching or studying in Wisconsin this year.

Seng took part in a meeting of more than 100 members of WEA standing committees in Milwaukee Saturday.

WEA Executive Secretary H. C. Weinick outlined key issues facing education and WEA, including extension of salary negotiation procedures, improvement of state and federal support for educational costs, raising professional standards, improved standards of teacher welfare and educational procedures, and improvement of public understanding of education.

Song Service Tonight At Lutheran Church

A service of songs will take the place of the usual Advent service at Faith Lutheran Church at 7:30 p.m. today.

Music will be presented in a sacred concert sung by both the junior and senior choirs. Worship will be offered through the texts of traditional Christmas carols and hymns recounting the events of the birth of Christ and offering the praises of Christians.

The song service is open to the public.

City Council Okays Mayor's Salary Hike

said upgrading the mayor's salary was long overdue.

The personnel committee also recommended, and the council approved, the following fringes for city employees:

—The city pay 60 per cent instead of the present 50 per cent of the group hospital and surgical insurance, effective Jan. 1.

—If Dec. 24 falls on a regular work day, starting at noon that day city employees will be allotted holiday pay.

—In addition to the present vacation schedule, after 25 years of service employees will receive four weeks vacation (20 working days).

—After 20 years service they will start accumulating one additional day of vacation for each year up to 25 years.

Krueger informed the council the committee intended to make a two-part recommendation, the second to deal with merit salary increases for some municipal employees.

Merit Increases

"We are in the process of reviewing merit increase recommendations submitted by various department heads," Krueger said.

The personnel committee, which recently submitted the city's final 1964 contract offer to Teamsters Local 336, has decreed there will be no across-the-board wage increases in 1964.

Local 536, representing 100 employees in the department of public works, has asked for salary increases amounting to 15 cents per hour, plus fringe benefits. On the matter of salaries, the committee and union are far apart.

Members of the union are scheduled to take a vote on the city's contract offer by Saturday, or early next week.

The union and personnel committee are still in negotiations under terms of the Wisconsin Municipal Employee Act.

Criticized by Fischer

Fischer criticized the committee's report as "piecemeal" and wanted to know if salary boosts were being considered for those who will be holding other city elective offices May 1.

Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (7th), a member of the personnel committee, said what Fischer referred to was not on the council agenda.

"I couldn't answer that for you," Hannemann commented. The committee may have plans to come in at a later date.

Fischer said until he had all the information as to what the committee was considering recommending, he was in no position to vote intelligently on the committee report. He then requested the separate vote on raising the mayor's salary and discussion followed.

Reminder From Tews

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th) reminded Fischer that when other municipal employees and elected officials received salary increases in recent years, the mayor did not.

Rounding out the discussion, Fischer said he had received the answers to his questions and the unanimous vote followed. Mitchell and Buckley are the only announced candidates for mayor. Deadline for filing nomination papers is Jan. 28.

Youth Makes Gun Threat

Police Find Armed Juvenile Holding Parents Prisoner

Outagamie County sheriff investigators were distracted in their investigation of a brutal slaying of a Black Creek woman Wednesday when they were called to a rural Appleton home where a 15-year-old youth had threatened his parents with a shotgun.

Sheriff Lt. Jack Frenz said he talked the youth into giving him the gun and took him to the county jail where he is being held for questioning. Frenz said the youth was sitting on the top steps of the family home's porch and the family was locked inside the home.

Frenz was on his way to St. Elizabeth Hospital where Mrs. Florence Kilsdonk, 26, route 1, Black Creek, who had been murdered early Wednesday was taken, when he was called to the rural Appleton home. Patrolman Stanley Arnold of the county patrol also was sent to the home.

Appleton Firehouse Work to be Resumed

Construction will be resumed on Appleton's new No. 1 fire station this week, weather permitting.

The common council approved two financial transactions Wednesday night which gave Lauer Construction Co., Neenah, the go-ahead for the $500,000 project.

The headquarters station is being erected at Atlantic and Drew Streets, replacing a 79-year-old structure at Oneida and Washington streets.

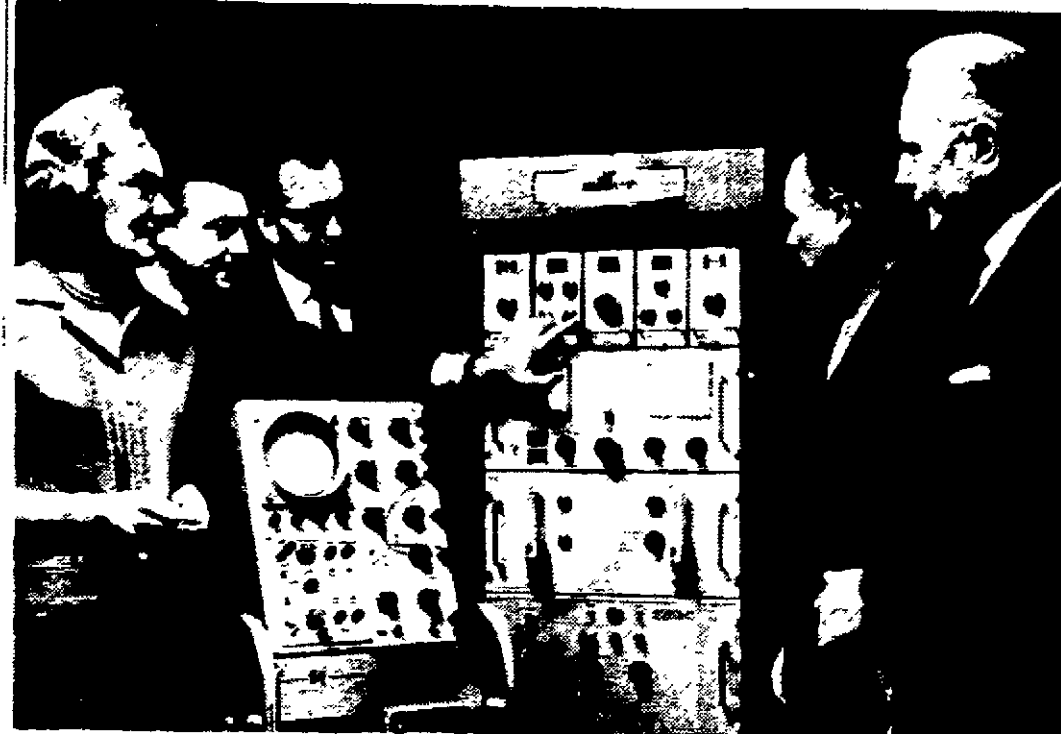

Completion of the building is scheduled for the Fall of 1964.

Short-Term Note

Aldermen approved borrowing $375,000 from local banks on a short-term note basis, and will pay off the latter when a major bond issue is floated.

Originally the council had hoped to approve a resolution for a bond issue to cover major capital expenditures.

However, a board of education controversy over recent bid openings for Albert Einstein Home to nurse's aid, with no done by the land developer and School disrupted the city financing schedule, and the council instead adopted a resolution for a $500,000 bond issue with which to pay back the banks.

House Numbers Very Important For Firemen

What's in a house number? Ask the folks out West Charles Street way.

The Appleton Fire Department paid a visit to their area at about 6 p.m. Wednesday.

It seems a call had been received from the residents at 2130 W. Charles St. A light cord shorted and started a fire.

Firemen encountered a problem in locating the house because the 2130 address was located among a group of homes that had numbers in the 2200's.

Building Inspector Charles Magnette had an explanation today.

He discovered sometime ago that homeowners with house numbers in the 2200's really should be in the 2100 block, and asked them to change the numbers accordingly.

Apparently some did, others did not.

Some homes have no numbers at all.

As a result, house numbers in that area are like a group of mixed up kids.

"It's a bad situation — not only there but also in some other parts of the city where residences do not have the correct house numbers," Magnette commented.

He again urged residents in the 2200 block of W. Charles Street to get their house numbers in order.

Ice Rinks at Kaukauna to be Opened Friday

KAUKAUNA — Flooding of three ice rinks in the city is underway and all three rinks are expected to be ready for use Friday, according to James Gertz, recreation director.

Rinks this year will be located at Strassburg, Riverside and Hennes play areas. Work on a storm sewer prevents use of the main rink at Tenth Street. The three rinks will be illuminated for night skating and will have warming sheds.

Supervision at rinks will be provided from 4 to 9 p.m. on school days while during the Christmas holidays and week-ends supervision will be provided from 1 to 9 p.m. The annual Ice Carnival, tentatively set Jan. 19, will be held at Riverside Park.

Also serving on the newly merged cooperative's board are Chester Halvorson, Francis Hoffacker and Chester Riesenweber. The board consists of three members representing the two component cooperatives.

Paul Nagan, current manager of Outagamie Equity Cooperative Exchange, was named to manage the newly merged cooperative. The merger becomes effective Jan. 1.

College Seeks Appleton Permission for Sign at Bowl Construction Site

Lawrence College has requested permission from the city to erect a sign on the south side of John Street to advertise the athletic bowl being constructed in that area. The sign will be 16 feet wide and 12 feet high.

"We intend that the sign shall remain at least as long as construction of the field continues, and this is planned until late 1965," a spokesman for the college wrote.

To Your Good Health

Heat Brings Relief to Joints With Arthritis

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. brings substantial relief, but we are talking about heat applied to the affected area, and considerably more heat than would be comfortable for sleeping purposes if applied to the whole body.

For this purpose moist heat is generally preferable but not always convenient. Soaking a foot or ankle in hot water? Yes. Or a hot bath. Or the whirlpool devices used in hospitals or therapy centers.

But for an aching hip or shoulder or other joint, for home purposes a heating pad or hot water bottle is usually more convenient and will do a very satisfactory job of relief.

So don't let the question of uncomfortable, either from excessive heat or from sheer weight. You sleep poorly and table sleeping be your guide as you aren't as rested in the morning as you should be.

An electric blanket avoids this weight problem. And the heat usually can be regulated—so be careful not to get it too high.

There isn't any reason to worry that the "dry heat" is going to dry your skin or "make you tired." Regular blankets don't provide any moisture. If either they or an electric blanket applicable to children, because it makes you too warm, you'll fit the person instead of the other way around. For quite some years we have had too many questions are incorporated in his arthritis. We know that heat "reducing diets" proposed by applied to an arthritic joint "experts." It is perfectly obvious that no single, rigid diet is going to be right for everybody. The only way to offer a "sure" reducing diet for everybody is to concoct one which may starve a good many people who try it. Maybe all.

And it is my fixed conviction that starvation is not the way to reduce. Especially for children. Reducing does not mean starvation.

Histo-Lung Disorder

Dear Dr. Molner: Please tell me about histo. I have a brother-in-law in the hospital who has TB and histo, they say. (N.E.H.)

The complete name for histo is histoplasmosis, a lung disorder caused by a yeast-like organism. A lot has been learned about it in the last few years. It can resemble tuberculosis quite closely, and it is probable that in the past some TB patients really had histo. It is possible to have both at the same time, too.

However, now that both are so well known, sanitarium doctors are on guard. The two can be distinguished by careful X-ray study, and—most definitely—by a skin test for histo.

Much heart trouble is prevented. Write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20c in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all readers to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. (Copyright, 1963)

GOP Primed for January Assault On Federal Budget

Johnson Certain Spending Will Reach $100 Billions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Republicans are loading their elephant guns for an assault on the spending budget. At best the new budget will be an estimate of how much revenue the government will receive and pay out in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. While spending can be estimated fairly accurately, it is more difficult to forecast revenue. Gross Product

With a report in hand that the gross national product is passing the $600 billion mark, Johnson conceivably could have the projected deficit with an optimistic revenue estimate.

Thompson May Send Three Men To Kenosha

Will Determine if State Should Take Over John Doe Probe

MADISON (AP)—Atty. Gen. George Thompson said Wednesday he was sending three members of his staff to Kenosha to determine whether his office should conduct the John Doe investigation already begun there.

Thompson said he acted after receiving a letter from Kenosha County Dist. Atty. Joseph Molinaro asking the attorney general's office to take over investigation and prosecution in the probe.

Molinaro, who has been ill since shortly after the investigation started in November, said his office can handle routine matters in his absence but not the John Doe. It probably will be close to a month before Molinaro can return to his office.

Thompson said he was sending his first assistant, Lyle Strahan, and two assistant attorneys general, Robert Martinson and LeRoy Dalton, to Kenosha. Dalton heads the recently formed State Criminal Investigative Division and has directed much of the Milwaukee John Doe probe.

Thompson said he could take one of two actions: Arrange for appointment of a district attorney pro tempore or an assistant for Kenosha County to handle all of Molinaro's duties, or ask the governor to appoint a special counsel.

Molinaro suggested in his letter, appointment of a special counsel, if the attorney general's office cannot step in.

Green Hills Water Control Project Approved in House

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Wisconsin project was one of two watershed flood prevention developments approved by the House Agriculture Committee Wednesday as congressional authorization was completed.

The Green Hills project, in Wisconsin's St. Croix and Dunn counties, will cost an estimated $1,122,084, with the federal government supplying $761,992. The appropriation of funds for the development is included in other legislation still pending.

In another development, Community Facilities Administration announced a $37,000 accelerated public works grant for Wisconsin's Menominee County for construction of a $74,000 security and will not pass up bridge over the Wolf River in new programs that are needed, the Keshena area.

Farmer's Tax Exemption Is Ruled Invalid

MADISON (AP)—The State Department of Taxation ruling exempting farmers from the three per cent tax on household electricity is invalid, Atty. Gen. George Thompson said Wednesday because public utilities cannot thwart legislative intent.

George Corning, head of the tax department, said he would confer with his own legal staff before any move is made to impose the tax on farmers.

The tax on household electricity was enacted as part of the budget-tax compromise and went into effect Aug. 15. The utilities said they were unable to collect the tax because it was impossible to tell which portion of farm electricity went for household use and which for business use, and the tax department exempted farms from the levy.

A bill to repeal the electricity tax was approved in the Senate brief airport statement. He and was within one ballot of passage when the Assembly closed its November session.

In his opinion asked by the governments of both the Senate, Thompson said, "The utility cannot thwart the legislative imposition by asserting that, although factually it had 'thrown by a military coup Nov. 1 and killed. President Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22."

U.S. military sources said the furnished was not of that character changes and an increase in Communist guerrilla activities tax and the supplier has the in the last three months prompt McNamara's return.

Johnson Bent on Using Personal Diplomacy for Policy Toward Russians

President's Goal Is Eventual End to 'Cold War' Relations

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson evidently has decided to make full use of personal diplomacy to carry out his announced policy of seeking improved relations with the Soviet Union and an eventual end to the cold war.

This raises the possibility of an active period in U.S.-Soviet relations next year, although at the moment officials say no plan for negotiation or meetings has been developed.

The means of personal diplomacy open to the new President include periodic exchange of messages with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, public statements by Johnson specifically designed to influence the course of policies East and West and a meeting with Khrushchev.

Brief Conference
The President Wednesday kept the way open for a meeting in a brief news conference statement that also had diplomatic implications in relation to the administration's developing view of the cold war and its interest in the struggle between the Soviet Union and Red China.

Johnson was asked what he thought about the prospects for an early meeting with Khrushchev. He replied:

"I am ready and willing to meet with any of the world leaders at any time there is any indication a meeting would be fruitful and productive. When there are such indications, I will be glad to make a decision and inform you of it."

Other Sources
From other sources, it is known that, like the late President John F. Kennedy, Johnson is is favorably disposed to carry on a private correspondence with Khrushchev whenever he thinks it is useful.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk also dealt positively with the idea of a summit meeting in a broadcast interview released Wednesday night by the State Department.

Rusk said that "the fate of the world does relate very definitely to the sense of responsibility of the President of the United States and the chairman of the Soviet Union, as heads of the two greatest nuclear powers."

In the interview, recorded for CBS Reports last week, Rusk said he thought that Johnson and Khrushchev would want to keep contacts open through diplomacy and "whatever means are suitable."

Christmas Trees...Edible, Decorative

BY LILLIAN MACKESY

Post-Crescent Food Editor

The Christmas tree is one of the most loved symbols of the holiday season and there are many beautiful legends about the yuletide tree and its origin. One concerns Martin Luther and his inspiring encounter with the firmament one Christmas Eve long ago.

Legend has it that Luther was walking deep in thought one Christmas Eve. He was thinking about the significance of the day ahead... the darkened sky was brilliant with stars as he walked along that open road. Glancing up, he was struck by the beauty of the night and the clear winter sky above him. Wanting to capture this brilliance and translate it into a Christmas thought, he took a young fir tree home with him. There he garlanded its feathery branches with silver and gold and set it aglow with tiny candles.

This tradition is followed in many countries where Christmas trees still are garlanded... some with tinsel, bright ornaments and lights and others with sweetmeats and cookies according to custom.

Thus it is we borrow the tree symbol for today's holiday table... to carry out the spirit of Christmas. For instance, there's the handsome, stylized topiary tree that can be utilized in numerous ways. We show it as a fruited tree for a buffet table or pre-dinner treat.

Small bite-sized tomatoes also look handsome on a vegetable topiary. A cabbage makes a handy base for a vegetable tree that could include marinated cauliflowerettes, mushrooms and olives, all secured in the cabbage with cocktail picks or toothpicks. Even broiled Vienna sausages could be added to this hors d'oeuvres tree.

Then there's the fine molded buffet salad with its unusual tree trim fashioned from believe it or not... pickles. Slices of sweet gherkins are arranged with bits of pimiento on a layer of gelatin in the bottom of the mold. A mayonnaise layer goes over the design and the hearty and delicious meat-apple-vegetable layer goes in the mold last. When the salad's unmolded, the Christmas tree comes out on top.

The other two examples are desserts... one an elegant Raisin-Pecan Pie that comes to the table flaming and the other layers of sponge cake cut into geometric tree design.

They all say MERRY CHRISTMAS in one of the nicest ways of all.

FRUITED TOPIARY TREE

- 1 piece styrofoam or other pyramid-shaped base
- Aluminum foil
- Fresh mint or parsley
- 2 cups red maraschino cherries (about 80 cherries)
- 3 large oranges, quarter slices
- 1 bunch green grapes
- 1 cup light corn syrup
- 1/2 cup maraschino cherry juice
- Sour Cream Cherry Sauce
- Italian Custard Cherry Sauce

Set pyramid base firmly in Turn to Page 6, Col. 2

An example of practical elegance is this Christmas Fruited Tree. Guests help themselves to glazed maraschino cherries, grapes, orange slices and other seasonal fruits, served with a choice of maraschino cherry dessert sauces.

Season Mixes Traditional Holly, Flowers

There was a time when, except for the very rich, fresh flowers were out of the question at Christmas. "Hot house" flowers were the exception rather than the rule, and the average family had to rely almost entirely on evergreens for holiday decorating.

More and more people are "decking the halls" with cut flowers in combination with the traditional greens.

Coffee Table Bouquet

A tightly furled nosegay of roses, edged 'round with a lacey border of fir, is a charming adornment for a coffee table. Gladioli, stripped from their stalks and floated in a low silver bowl with sprigs of holly, is a lovely centerpiece for a festive table.

Carnations, fragrant and lovely, are all-time favorites at any season of the year. At Christmas, they seem to be really special, however. Their colors are so glowing, their ability to combine gracefully with Christmas greens so great, and their perfume so spicy and gay, all these factors combine to make them one of the most universally popular of flowers.

Variegated Carnations

An extremely attractive arrangement for the table in an entrance hall is made with Arranged in a high vase, the as they cause no confusion in speckled red and white carnations, with their slender line or design with the holly.

Sweet gherkin slices and bits of pimiento form the Christmas tree decoration on this upside-down molded buffet salad. It's a main dish made with ham (or chicken, turkey or tongue, if preferred) and other things seasoned with sweet pickle relish.

These attractive tree-shaped desserts are prepared from golden sponge cake layers which are filled, frosted, then cut into triangular design. The trunks of the trees are spearmint candies.

Delicately spiced and rich with plump raisins, a canned filling makes this pie an easy one to make. The crust also can be made from scratch or from a prepared mix. The secret of this creation is the unusual way the top crust is cut, then crowned with a flaming cone of pastry for serving glamor.

Your Problems

Quietly Checking Dinner Check Perfectly Correct, Says Ann

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a widow who has been going with a man who is well-known and highly respected in this community. He has one little habit which I find embarrassing. So far I haven't let him know that it bothers me, but if you say to tell him, I will.

When the waiter brings the dinner check, he ceremoniously takes his bifocals out of his pocket, reaches for his pen and starts to add up the bill. Every second seems like an hour. He frequently questions the waiter about charges. For example he'll say, "I thought the salad came with the dinner—" or "Didn't the price of the dinner include dessert?" When he finds a mistake in the arithmetic he triumphantly points it out to the waiter as if he had discovered Fermat's last theorem. I feel like crawling under the rug. Shall I tell him how I feel?—Katrinka

Dear Kat: Any person who pays a bill without looking at it is a chump, but inquiries should be pleasant and not sound like the Second Spanish Inquisition.

Waiters make mistakes and so do machines. If you have been paying your bills without checking them, you're not very bright, Lady.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am the mother of two teen-age girls. I take violent exception to some of your advice. My daughters read your column regularly and yesterday I had to hide the newspaper so they wouldn't see it.

Why do you persist in telling young girls that they are under no obligation to tell their fiancés about past indiscretions? Such advice encourages them to lie.

Don't you think it makes more sense to suggest that girls refrain from doing things they may be ashamed of later? If a girl conducts herself in a virtuous manner she will be able to answer any and all questions.

So please stop telling young girls that their past is nobody's business. In my opinion this is terrible counsel.—Irate Mother

Dear Irate: Unless you started to read this column yesterday you should know that I consume tons of newspaper telling girls not to do things they will be ashamed of later.

Such advice is too late, however, for girls who have already done things they're ashamed of.

I do not tell girls to lie, nor do I suggest that they pose as something they are not. I merely let them know that a real man is willing to accept a girl as she is. He does not demand a purity oath.

The man who insists on the names and numbers of all the players is invariably the one who will use the information later to beat her over the head.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I wish I had a dollar for every mother-in-law who burned the newspapers which carried your column the other day. I refer to the letter from "Miserable" and your superb advice that the third party who undermines a marriage should be removed from the picture.

As a man who was dedicated to family life, I know how right you are. I am compelled to live a lonely life, apart from a wife I adored. My children are forced to bear the burdens of a broken home—and they're growing up with no male influences in their lives.

Please keep repeating your sound philosophy, Ann. I hope that others for whom it is not too late will heed your words of wisdom and profit from your uncommon, common sense. —N. Y. Casualty

Dear N. Y.: Thank you for taking the time and trouble to write. A word from one who has been there is always especially meaningful.

Okay to Guess if Necessary

Necessity, according to Poor Alfred's Almanac, is the mother of good guesses. If you have two ways to guess, and one of them is fatal, you might just as well guess the other way.

West opens the king of hearts, and you let him hold the trick. He continues with the queen of hearts, and you hold off once more since you don't know that East started with only two hearts.

West leads a third heart, and you take the ace. You see that you can take eight tricks very easily, and that the ninth trick will have to come from diamonds. In order to develop a second diamond trick you must guess the location of the king and jack of diamonds.

Soviet Fashion Experts Tour Our Industry

BY JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The six Soviet visitors to America's bustling garment district had their fair share of a typical market week. They were crushed on elevators, borne down upon by pushcarts, and ignored by busy cabbies.

All this was taken in stride by the delegation returning a visit American ready-to-wear manufacturers made to Russia last summer.

Red Carpet Out
But the cocktail parties, a part of the red carpet treatment extended them by their American hosts, really did them in. "Like the salt mines?" ventured one of the guests.

Dimpled, yellow-haired Tamara Shekulopnikova, who interprets for her compatriots, smiled and sighted. "Yes."

The other two ladies of the party, were Galina Pavlovna Antonova, a tall, muscular woman with steel gray eyes, and Lidiya Zykhina, with a fetching smile and a housewifely figure.

They stood with pretty Tamara, ignoring the cocktails and the lavish buffet behind them, wearily pumping hands and looking quizzical as guests struggled to make them understand where they were from, what they accomplished in the American fashion field.

She's Big Wheel
Conversing more easily in another part of the room were their Soviet companions. Nikolay Vasilyevich Lisitsyn is engineer of the Moscow Council of National Economy. Evgeniy Evgenyevich Melnikov heads Leningrad's sewing industry. And Aleksandr Rshakov directs the laboratory at the Scientific Research Institute of the USSR sewing industry.

Motherly-looking Mrs. Zykhina, dressed in a dark blue two-piece suit with notched lapels, is chief engineer of a sewing factory employing 850 workers. Except to comment that she was impressed by "the large variety of fabrics, colors and styles," Mrs. Zykhina let the other two ladies do the talking.

"Come to this country and I can make you a big wheel," Albert Azaria, an executive of Royal Frocks had said to Mrs. Antonova earlier that day, after she had displayed amazing intelligence by interrogating him about a technological matter.

"I am already a big woman," the lady had laughed, automatically squaring her frame. Mrs. Antonova is chief of the Committee of Light Industry for all of the Soviet Union.

Waste Material
She is also forthright. The Russian visitor told American garment manufacturers that, "You waste material to save labor. Your workmanship is sometimes careless. The colors of some of your separates contrast too sharply."

Wearing a blue gray dress made of a swirl brocade pattern called "Cosmo," Mrs. Antonova, with her alert blue eyes, surveyed the cocktail crowd. "I cannot understand how some of your women can wear furs in such warm weather."

Of the ladies, only Tamara by American standards seemed to be stylishly dressed. Nevertheless, Mrs. Antonova remained firm in her conviction that "Russians are as up to date as Americans in fashion."

Iodine Leaves Stain

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: A bottle of iodine was dropped and broke on the wash basin. The stain doesn't rinse off. How can it be removed?
A: Wipe the iodine stain with ammonia or photographic hypo. Then rinse with clear water.
Q: We were able to get our new apartment at a very low rental because we took it "as is." Apparently the previous tenant tacked carpeting down in several of the rooms and left holes in the hardwood flooring when this was removed. How can we fill these holes so they won't show?

A: A putty stick is available in most popular wood colors at many plywood, paint and hardware dealers. This can be used "as is" to fill the holes. Or fill the holes with plastic wood, then stain to match the rest of the floor surface after sanding the patches level when the material hardens.
Q: We made the mistake of hanging our kitchen cabinets before they were finished. Now the ones nearest the range have a variety of food and grease stains, some of which penetrated the bare wood and we have been unable to remove them completely even by sanding. Assume these must be removed before refinishing the cabinets. Any suggestions along this line?
A: You're right about having to remove all grease before applying the finish (otherwise, the finish won't hold). Apply a thick paste of powdered whiting or other absorbent powder and a nonflammable liquid spot remover over the greasy areas (be sure the room is well ventilated while using the spot remover). The remover acts like a solvent on the grease, and the powder like a blotter to draw it out. When the paste is dry, brush off and replace with fresh. Repeat treatment, if necessary.

Grounding 16-Year-Old May Terminate Boy-Teasing Ways

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: I'm the father of a 16-year-old girl who's a good girl who would never do anything wrong. I haven't ever had any major trouble with her. In fact, she's normal in every respect except for one thing. She's a tease. She delights in driving her boy friends mad. Could you please tell me why she acts this way?

encourage her so they can have an excuse for their own childish dreams about the day when they'll make her — or some other "woman" — crawl — to them.

It's up to you. Point out to her that the fact that she teases and hurts these boys proves she doesn't like. So you're putting an end to all dates and phone calls from boys until she gets a month or two older.

Perhaps a month away from the intoxication of teasing will help her clear her head.

Then she should be able to attract boys on a better basis and treat them the way a self-respecting girl wants to be treated. If not, you ought to get some personal professional help for her. Even if she manages to avoid provoking some boy to riot, she isn't doing herself any good with her current attitude.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

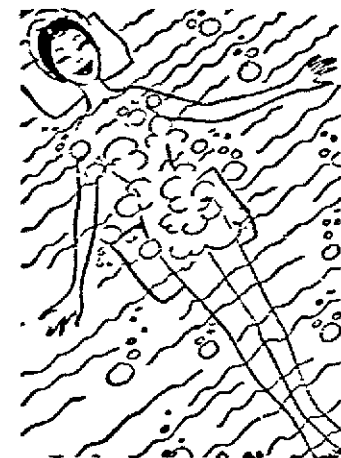

Float Away Fatigue

When next you are bone-tired, try a "floating" bath. Floating induces a sensation of weightlessness that relaxes and rests every muscle. You already know its bliss, if you have ever floated on a warm, calm sea.

To prepare for a floating bath, fill the tub with comfortably warm water to within three inches of the top. Mask the overflow drain beforehand with adhesive tape, if it will be awash at high tide.

As the tub fills, add bath bubbles or cologne to the water. Also provide yourself with a head and hip rest. Plump little bath pillows are fine for this purpose. Tightly rolled, medium-sized terry towels will serve.

When all is in readiness, ease into the water and settle head and hips on their rests. Now go lump — really let go. As your muscles relax, your arms and legs will rise and float.

Soon you will feel as weightless as eiderdown. Within ten minutes your fatigue literally will float away. Even throbbing feet and tension lines around the eyes, even weary spirits and minds find surcease in the buoyancy of water.

When you take a floating bath at bedtime, make a gentle sucking and drying the finale. But, if activity will crowd your after-bath hours, lather and dry briskly; finish off with splashes of stimulating cologne. It's a promise that you will look and feel ready to take on the world.

serving dish. Cover with foil. Attach alternating rows of mint and fruits with toothpicks broken in halves. Arrange orange slices in overlapping pattern. Place corn syrup and cherry juice in small saucepan; bring to boil. Lightly brush all fruit with hot glaze. Chill tree until serving time. Serve with cherry dessert sauces below.

SOUR CREAM CHERRY SAUCE

- 1 cup red maraschino cherry juice
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 pint sour cream

In top of double boiler, combine cherry juice, brown sugar, butter and cornstarch. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Remove from heat; cool. Swirl sour cream into mixture.

ITALIAN CUSTARD CHERRY SAUCE

- 8 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup red maraschino cherry juice
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 pint heavy cream
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/4 cup Marsala wine

In top of double boiler, beat together egg yolks, cherry juice and sugar. Cook over boiling water, beating until frothy and slightly thickened. Cool. Whip cream with vanilla and Marsala; fold into custard mixture. May be served warm or chilled.

CHRISTMAS TREE CAKES

- 6 eggs, separated
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 cup sifted self-rising flour
- Pistachio Filling
- Creamy Frosting

Spearhead gum drops

Colored sugar

Beat egg whites in large bowl until foamy. Beat in sugar, two tablespoons at a time, beating meringue until soft peaks form. Set aside.

Beat egg yolks in second bowl until thick and lemon colored. Blend in lemon juice; fold into meringue. Sift flour over egg mixture in four additions, folding in after each addition. Turn into two 7 by 11-inch pans, greased and lined with waxed paper.

Bake in preheated, 375-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or until cake springs back when lightly touched. Remove from pans and cool.

Split each cake in halves horizontally. Spread two bottom layers with Pistachio Filling; cover with top layers; spread each top layer with Creamy Frosting. Cut each cake in half lengthwise to form two 11-inch by 3 1/2-inch rectangles. Then, using sharp knife, cut in zig-zag fashion to form tree triangles. (This leaves smaller or half-triangles at beginning and end of cakes; put together to form small square cake and frost.) Fasten spearhead gum drop with toothpicks to base of each triangle to represent tree trunk; decorate with colored sugar. Store in refrigerator until serving time. Recipe makes 28 small cakes.

PISTACHIO FILLING

- 1 pkg. vanilla pudding mix
- 1 cup shelled salted pistachio nuts

Prepare pudding according to package directions. Remove from heat; cool five minutes; then stir in nuts. Spread on cake layers.

CREAMY FROSTING

- 8 ounces softened cream cheese
- 2 tablespoons light corn syrup

Beat cream cheese and syrup together until smooth and of spreading consistency. Spread on cake.

CHRISTMAS TREE BUFFET SALAD

- 3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup water, cold
- 2 cups cold beef bouillon
- Small sweet gherkins, sliced lengthwise
- Pimiento, cut into star and small rounds
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- dash tabasco
- 4 cups diced ham, turkey, chicken or tongue
- 1/2 cup undrained sweet pickle relish
- 1/2 cup diced celery
- 1/2 cup diced tart apples, unpeeled
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento

In saucepan, sprinkle one envelope of the gelatin over quarter cup of the cold water. Dissolve this gelatin over low heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in one cup of the bouillon. Pour half of the gelatin mixture into a six-cup mold. Chill until slightly thickened. Arrange pickle slices and pimiento shapes on top of thickened gelatin to form a Christmas tree design.

Stir remaining half of gelatin mixture into 1/4 cup of the mayonnaise. Chill until slightly thickened; spoon over tree design.

In saucepan, sprinkle remaining two envelopes gelatin over half cup cold water; dissolve over low heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir gelatin, one cup bouillon and seasonings into half cup mayonnaise. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in remaining ingredients. Spoon over second layer. Chill until firm.

Unmold; garnish with parsley, carrot curls and radish roses, as desired.

RAISIN PECAN PIE FLAMBE

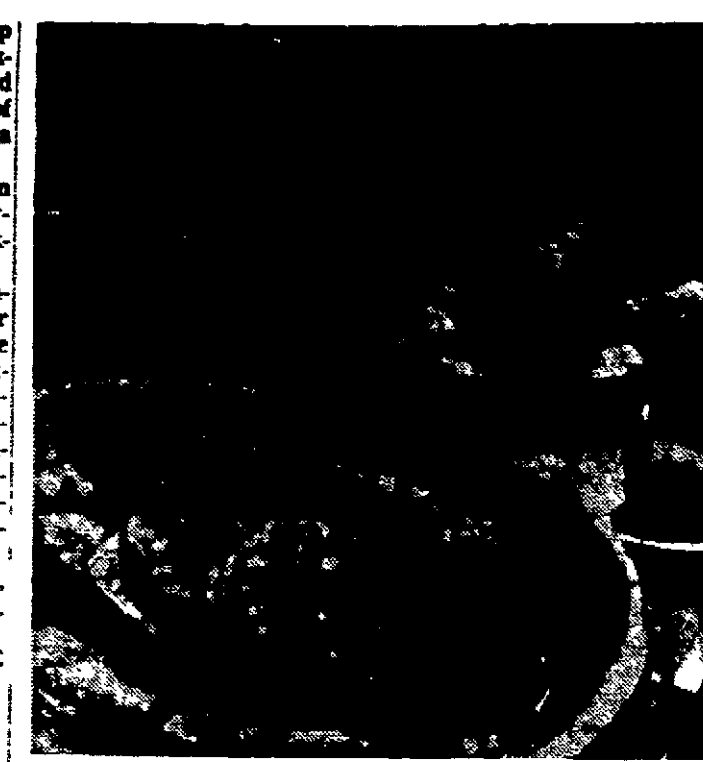

Pastry for 2-crust pie

- 3 cups canned raisin pie filling (two No. 2 cans)
- 2 cups chopped pecans
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3 tablespoons cognac

Line pie plate with pastry. Combine pie filling (two cans), pecans, lemon rind and vanilla. Blend well; spoon into pie crust. Cover filling with top crust; seal edges. Decorative triangles or V's may be cut into top crust before or after placing on top of filling. Fold or roll crust back to expose filling and simulate the tree design.

The pie pictured has five inverted V's cut around the center of top crust. Cut a small cross at exact center of top crust. Wrap strip of leftover pastry around small metal funnel or cone-shaped foil; stick which is ignited to flame the pie just before serving.

ter cross cut. Bake pie for 30 minutes in 425-degree oven. Remove from oven and cool slightly before removing funnel, but leave flame for the pie. Serve leaving pastry cone in place; this pie warm.

When Time Becomes Short and there's still many chores to finish before Christmas, take to this time-saver for a wonderful family meal. Convenience foods make this 30-minute Ham and Potato Bake possible. While the main dish is baking, toss some greens for a salad and serve scoops of ice cream on slices of angel cake for a dessert.

Ham-Potato Bake Real Time-Saver

Regardless of those extra demands on your schedule, the family must still be fed. That's when convenience foods ... those wonderful modern life savers ... really become life savers to a busy homemaker on her last lap of Christmas shopping, holiday cleaning and baking.

Take a canned ham from the refrigerator, a can of sweet potatoes, sliced pineapple and condensed cream of celery soup from the pantry shelf. There are the makings for a speedy dinner. Ready in 30 minutes, it's a delicious combination.

Here's the recipe:

HAM AND POTATO BAKE

- 3 slices pineapple, cut in halves
- 1 can (1 1/2 pound) ham, cut into 6 serving pieces
- 1 can whole sweet potatoes, drained
- 1 can condensed cream of celery soup
- 1/4 teaspoon ginger
- 12 whole cloves

Drain pineapple, saving one-fourth cup juice. Place ham slices in shallow baking dish. Arrange potatoes around ham. Combine soup, reserved pineapple juice, ginger; pour over ham and potatoes. Stick cloves in pineapple slices; place pineapple halves on ham slices. Bake in preheated, 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Baste with sauce once during baking.

Today's Etiquette
BY LOUISE DAVIS

"MATCHING" HOSTESSES
Dear Louise: Our recently organized church group is having a large tea next month. There will be six hostesses and we wonder if it would be all right for all of us to wear matching dresses. We have seen one that we like. It is of bright red taffeta, cut low in back and sleeveless.

Louise Davis Answers:
The dress you describe is much too elaborate for a tea or for any day-time function. You should wear simple afternoon dresses in whatever colors that are becoming to each. The dresses shouldn't match. If you wish to distinguish yourselves from the others, you could each wear a small corsage or even just one flower.

MONOGRAMMED NOTE PAPER
Dear Louise: For my birthday, a friend gave me a box of white folded note paper which has my monogram centering the outside. It measures about 5 by 3 3/4 inches after it is folded. When I write thank you or sympathy notes on it, where do I begin writing and what is the page sequence?

Louise Davis Answers:
When a monogram is in the center, the writing begins on the inside. First, try to determine the amount of writing space you will need. If you think that there will be an overflow from the inner sheet, then begin your salutation in the upper left corner, writing parallel to the narrow edge. After reaching the bottom, fold up the lower half and continue until finished. If you estimate that your message will be short, begin your salutation on the lower half of the inner sheet, then begin your inside. Additional writing may be continued on the other side of the fold.

Shawano Co-op Denies Rumors Of Layoffs

Consolidated Badger Says Employment Same as Year Ago

SHAWANO — Rumors of heavy layoffs at the Shawano plant of the Consolidated Badger Co-operative were discounted today by Frank Meyer, director of public relations.

"We have the same number of employees as we had last year at this time," Meyer stated. He said about 90 men and women currently are on the payroll.

Meyer said the rumors apparently were based on layoffs occurring with the completion of government contracts for processing of Commodity Credit Corp. surplus stocks.

"Such layoffs are normal and inevitable in the dairy industry where government contracts are involved," he said.

"When we get a contract we put on extra help to meet the delivery date. Unfortunately, it is impossible to arrange such contracts to provide stable employment, since the contracts depend upon bids and the quantity of surplus stocks offered."

Consolidated Badger has had three butter oil contracts from the government during the last two years, Meyer said. About 40 persons were employed for periods of approximately three months to handle the additional work.

Meyer said the co-operative is hopeful of signing another government contract soon.

Changes in operations to improve efficiency have resulted in a few layoffs or shifts in employment, Meyer stated. He said some of the Shawano plant's Grade A milk operation recently was switched to the Seymour plant.

Hospital Directors Re-Elect Officers

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

DO MOST ENGAGED COUPLES EXPECT SUCCESSFUL MARRIAGES? YES NO

Yes. Most people take their marriages seriously, and expect them to work out successfully. They see that other couples get divorced when they tend to feel that "it can't happen to us." Personally we have never seen a couple who took the position, "We can always get a divorce if it doesn't work out." Most couples become overwhelmed with the adjustments in marriage for which they have not been prepared. One of them gets panicky and starts divorce proceedings — often before it is really necessary.

For a realistic view of marriage, read the booklet, "Facing Facts of Married Life" — it's yours for 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to this column, in care of this newspaper.

You choose your own culture. True — False —

True, more than you may realize. Every time you pick up a newspaper and turn to one page or another, you are selecting the items you read out of many others available. Every time you tune in a given program on television, you are choosing your own cultural climate. Mass media are widely universal, offering you the trivial and the consequential, the funny and the not-at-all amusing, both froth and substance. What you choose to read, watch and listen to reflects your interests, quite as much as it does the quality of the medium itself.

New Civil Defense Director Changes State Operations

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — State Civil Defense Director Owen Monfils of Green Bay has ordered the first change in operations of the state civil defense bureau where he took over command a week ago.

Somebody will be on duty at the state defense headquarters during the night-time hours to receive emergency and other calls. When Monfils assumed his job, he inquired about staffing the telephone post at the headquarters after 5 p.m. when the regular civil servants depart for home.

He was informed the office had a contract with a commercial telephone answering service ever since the Cuban crisis. That didn't strike the new director as appropriate to the character of the agency and its protective role.

Thurs., December 19, 1963 Appleton Post-Crescent C8

Monfils consulted with Col. John Fitzpatrick, the one-time professional soldier who is deputy chief of the bureau.

The result is a night-time duty roster. Staff officers will take their turns and lights will burn through the night at the nerve center of state defense hereafter.

Luke Inquired of Women for Understanding of Jesus' Life

His Story of Mary Could Have Had Only One Source - Mary

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL

On Mount Olivet for Mary, the mother of Jesus.

Of the women, little was known. And he wondered. In the depths of women, behind the watchfulness of their eyes and the stillness of their lips, lay untold secrets. Luke would seek to learn them.

Heretofore, none of the disciples had sought to do so. It was a notable omission.

To Luke, a cultured, urbane Greek physician, there could not be sufficient understanding of Jesus without inquiring into what the women knew of it. In every design, women fill a part. Luke purposed to discover it. He strode along the road, from time to time, trains of traders passed, woolbuyers returning to Tyre or Sidon with the packed mules; camels laden with wine casks from Cyprus.

Only in Luke can the story of the origins of Christ's coming be found. Here, in the fourth of five Christmas articles, is how this Greek physician went about gathering the story of Jesus' birth.

3-Day Journey

By foot it was about a three-day journey from Caesarea to Jerusalem, but it had taken him five. Several times he had stopped to treat the afflicted. Beside the vials and instruments he carried with him, a quiver of quills hung at his side, and a pouch of folded papyrus. He already had been in Galilee, gathering facts for his book, and he now proceeded into Judea.

As he later stated in his introduction, he set down information "delivered to us by those who from the beginning were eyewitnesses." It included material about Christ's coming unveiled in any other document. Of particular note was what he ascertained from women, to whom most scholars in those days paid scant heed.

Luke, a Gentile heathen converted to Christianity, had become an associate of the missionary Paul, who had been arrested for sedition in 58 A. D., and was in Roman custody in Caesarea. He was kept in jail there for two years.

Jesus Lived

During that period, it is feasible that Luke made his investigations. Most of those who had known Jesus, in the flesh, still lived.

Luke learned that the Apostle John had sold his property in Galilee and purchased a house from Galilee, from the city of Nazareth, to Judea, the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, to be enrolled with Mary, his betrothed, who was with child. "And while they were there, the time came for her to be delivered. And she gave birth to her first-born Son and wrapped Him in swaddling cloths, and laid Him in a manger, because there was no place for them in the inn."

Luke stood inside the limestone grotto, which inhabitants thereabouts had pointed out to him as the place. There, still, he could see the hollowed-out

Mary's Visit

This, and much else, Luke learned . . . of Mary's distraught visit to her aunt, Elizabeth, who offered reassurance. "Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb."

Luke, in compiling his account, obtained exclusive disclosures not only about Mary and Elizabeth, but also about other women to whom Christ's coming brought testing and opportunities.

It was the aged Anna, Luke learned, who stirred such agitation at the temple when the child Jesus was brought there, by Jewish custom, for his dedication.

It may be that Luke gave such attentive ear to women, Jerusalem, partly because his friend and teacher, Paul, customarily advised them to keep silent. Doing otherwise, Luke elicited their help and brought unknown details to light.

Boyhood Episode

He also uncovered the boyhood episode, when Jesus disappeared from a family caravan returning to Nazareth, and after a frantic search by his parents, was found at the temple talking with learned rabbis.

Through his inquiries in Jerusalem and Bethlehem, coupled with what he had heard in Galilee, Luke also determined the historical circumstances that had caused Joseph to take his bride away from home in her pregnancy.

Up From Galilee

"In those days," Luke learned, "a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be enrolled. This was the first enrollment when Quirinius was governor of Syria. And all went to be enrolled, each to his own city."

"And Joseph also went up

rock food trough for oxen where the child had lain.

Salt Water

There, the gentle woman had washed Him with salt water, warmed by Joseph over an open fire. There she had wrapped Him around and around with long strips of muslin to hold His body firm and stimulate breathing through his nostrils.

Things had been difficult then, as they still were for believers, with his consideration for women. Luke worked with caution in his interviews at the crowded Bethlehem inn and elsewhere, lest undue suspicion be aroused against him.

Along an outlying road Luke encountered a young lad crying and imploring passers-by for help. Luke was led by the youth to a shepherd's camp where an old man lay with a broken leg in those times.

He had been hurt in a fall. One of the most stirring scenes was gleaned from those people; for to you is born this day in the city of David, a Savior, who is Christ, the Lord."

Lawrence Says Congress Has Passed Buck to Supreme Court

Much Federal Aid To Church-Related Secondary Schools

WASHINGTON — The facts of life are beginning to catch up with Congress amid pressures for legislation in controversial fields. As usual, questions of constitutionality are being brushed aside as the senators and representatives pass the buck to the Supreme Court.

Lawrence

Thus, Congress has passed and President Johnson just signed into law a bill that provides more than a billion dollars for federal aid to educational institutions. Grants and loans have been authorized over a three-year period to 2,100 public and private institutions, of which 842 are supported or directed or controlled as to their educational programs by various churches. The funds must be used to build classrooms or laboratories or libraries for the purpose of teaching mathematics, science, engineering or modern foreign languages. No money can be used to build chapels or sports arenas.

College Level
Now, the institutions receiving the funds are at the college or university level. No aid is being furnished to elementary schools. This procedure follows the line laid down by the Kennedy administration which opposed subsidies to private schools at the elementary level. It was argued that "across the board" subsidies to all educational institutions were unconstitutional.

This attempt to draw a line between the elementary and the higher schools of learning has admittedly been vulnerable. It has been argued, for instance, that if it is constitutional to furnish any money to a church-related college, it is just as permissible to do so at any level of schooling. In answer, the point has repeatedly been made that attendance in the elementary schools is compulsory and that this is what makes it an act of the state, thus involving the government. But this reasoning has never been supported by any high-court decisions. On the contrary, the furnishing by government of funds for transportation of pupils to and from public or parochial schools has been upheld by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Government Money
Critics of the latest legislation insist that no government money at all can be furnished to any church-related institution. But it so happens that for several years now Congress has been helping to pay expenses for construction of certain facilities at the college level, and there has been no test of constitutionality. In the bill just enacted, there was inserted by the Senate—but omitted in conference committee—a provision which would have allowed any taxpayer to sue in order to get a settlement of this issue. The sponsors of the main bill, however, thought that this was risky and that it would be better to avoid the legal controversies that might delay the construction program.

The new law unquestionably opens the door to more federal aid to church-related colleges and schools of all kinds, providing some arrangement can be made to separate the teaching of religion from the teaching of non-religious subjects. The facts of life, however, are plain to see. Members of the Catholic faith are contributing about $1.5

billion annually to support parochial schools and are being taxed as well to pay for the cost of public schools. Recently a movement has arisen in Congress to permit tax deductions for tuition paid by parents or relatives for children in private schools. The view expressed is that there should be no unequal burden or penalty placed on citizens who want their children to get religious instruction in the schoolroom.

Paid Tuitions
Congress has furnished tuition money to veterans of World War II and the Korean War, and the funds have been paid to colleges of all kinds, private or public, whether or not they teach religion or are controlled by churches. No case has been brought against this practice. In fact, it is practically impossible to get a court test on constitutionality, as the citizen cannot sue the government on a question of federal appropriations. Inevitably, the controversy over federal aid to church-supported schools will get into the coming campaign. Many Catholics were not happy over the legislative argument made by the Kennedy administration about furnishing funds to church-supported schools at the college level, while denying them to elementary schools operated by churches.

Catholic Vote
It has been said in political circles that a Catholic in the presidency couldn't sponsor such a comprehensive approach, but that a Protestant president may sooner or later find that the Catholic vote of resentment against unequal treatment will cause Congress to go further than it has thus far and place funds also at the disposal of church-related elementary schools. It would cost the federal gov-

Sign Warns Thieves, They Steal It Too
NEW YORK (AP) — After four unsolved burglaries in 16 months, residents of an apartment building posted this sign in the entrance hall: "Notice to thieves: others have preceded you. All cameras, hi-fi systems, transistor radios, diamond rings, pearls, necklaces, as well as worthless and worthwhile jewelry, have been filched from these premises. There's nothing left to take." The sign has been stolen.

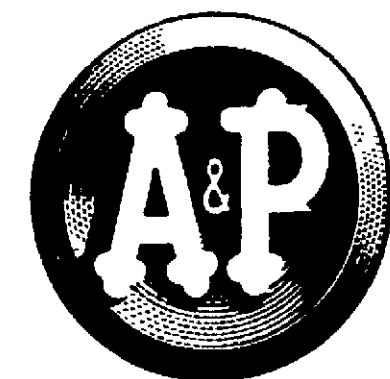

Routine Legislation With Quirk Ending
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The 1963 Legislature routinely passed a bill creating a court of general sessions in Washington County.

It provides for a $5,000 yearly salary for the judge who would be appointed by the governor on the recommendation of the Washington County legislator—Rep. J. Emmet Wood, author of the bill. So Tuesday Wood sent in his recommendation, and as the law said, the governor endorsed it. The appointee? Mrs. J. Emmet Wood.

ernment and the states several billion dollars if the Catholic citizenry suddenly decided to send all their children to public schools. So it becomes a practical problem in finance, and that's the way Congress has been looking at it, as the new law proclaimed this week moves in the direction of more and more federal and state aid to all kinds of educational institutions.

Economy Now – But How About 1964?

In a short space of time, President Johnson has created an image of economy for his administration of national affairs, and his drive for reducing federal spending is having results in Congress far beyond what he may have envisaged.

A majority of Congressmen were already in an economizing mood before he took charge. A particular target of their efforts was the foreign aid bill. Now the House has trampled on appropriations for this purpose and has passed a bill for only $2.6 billion, which is a slash of almost $2 billion over what the late President Kennedy originally recommended. And the Senate Appropriations Committee has approved an increase of only $500 million to $3.3 billion.

President Johnson told Congress that any amount less than $3.6 billion is unthinkable, but his friends in the Senate dared not even suggest this figure. The likelihood now is that the Senate and House will split the difference, and the final figure will be only slightly over $3 billion.

A few days later Senate and House conferees agreed on an appropriation of $1.8 billion to run the State, Justice and Commerce Departments this fiscal year. This was a real legislative rarity, for the amount set by the conferees was less than the figure previously approved by either the House or the Senate. It is $340 million less than the budget request.

The conferees remarked that President Johnson is demanding frugality in government spending and they want to see that he gets their full cooperation.

Before everyone gets the idea that next year's federal budget will show some real savings, however, there are a few ugly facts to face.

Experts say that even if President Johnson is able to hold next year's spending to bare bones levels, the federal budget will be higher than this year's estimated expenditures of a little less than $93 billion. For there are major factors he simply cannot control, such as interest on the increased national debt, commitments for increased government services required by an expanded population, etc.

And there is another straw in the wind which could produce far different results than the President has so far indicated.

Girls Need Sports Too

An Eau Claire psychiatrist, Dr. Albert Lorenz, told a conference on health and physical fitness at the University of Wisconsin that there should be more emphasis upon sports for women, particularly upon competitive sports. It might serve to relieve the pressure upon girls to get married so young, he said.

Actually competitive sports for girls are neglected all through the public schools and in part this is probably a by-product of coeducation. The emphasis—or even the overemphasis—upon varsity sports for boys and young men has resulted in the girls sitting around and watching the boys. Perhaps this is in part a matter of the relation between the sexes. But it tends to overemphasize the importance of competition for boys and to ignore it completely for girls.

Girls at about the junior high school level need a considerable amount of physical exertion. The physical education programs that merely use setting up exercises or modern dance and the effort of some girls' organizations to get completely away from competition overlook human nature.

Peron – Criminal or Martyr?

Ever since he fled into exile in 1955, Juan Peron has vowed that he would return to his native Argentina. Now it seems that the present government of Argentina will cooperate—but not in precisely the way Peron meant.

Official word has gone to Spain, where Peron now lives in Madrid, asking that Peron be extradited to Argentina to stand trial not for something spectacular like establishing a dictatorship or fomenting treason but for the humiliating crime of statutory rape. Presumably the government refers to Peron's widely publicized relationship with a young Argentine girl almost ten years ago.

There was a time when Peron and his second wife, Evita, were adored by their nation—or opposition was quickly hushed up. Their appearance would draw crowds of the shirtless ones, the working classes whom they used in their climb to almost undisputed power. Evita was put on a level with some of the saints by the poor and uneducated.

Less than two years ago, Peron's appeal

Important administration officials and advisers are strongly urging President Johnson to keynote his State of the Union Message in January on a "declaration of war—a war on poverty." And he is pictured as seriously considering their advice.

The idea is that the President would ask Congress at its next session for a package of weapons to fight pockets of poverty around the nation. It would be a combination humanitarian, pump-priming and vote-getting program and could include everything from aid for impoverished families to a sharp increase in aid for rural families to find off-farm work near their homes, from expansion of minimum wage coverage to programs encouraging high school youths to continue in job training courses.

There would be a few brand new items in the program, requests to increase funds for present programs and proposals to put into effect programs previously requested but not acted upon by Congress. For example Congress would be asked to set up a domestic Peace Corps and to authorize medical care for the aged under Social Security. There could be proposals for educating the children of migrant workers, expansion of food stamp plans for distributing food to the needy, expanded public works for depressed areas, including northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and federal aid to children of the unemployed.

It is obvious that President Johnson must come up with something new next year in preparation for the 1964 election, rather than just campaigning on continuing President Kennedy's program. The "war on poverty" would have the appeal of being entirely a domestic program and would cast the President in this mold, taking emphasis from the foreign field where concrete results are difficult to forecast or achieve.

The atmosphere of economy which President Johnson has achieved has drawn praise from throughout the country. He has correctly sensed the current attitude of the American taxpayer. But we will have to await his proposals to the new Congress before we find out whether the attractions of winning the next election will put an end to this brief era.

The enthusiasm for competition among girls in such sports as swimming, diving, golf, tennis, bowling and skiing is an indication that they enjoy some amount of rivalry. American women skiers have done much better than American men in international competition.

The idea that women athletes are necessarily muscle-bound and asexual is exploded by some of the top ones. But the development of athletes shouldn't be the aim of the physical athletic program for either boys or girls. A major use of the program is supposed to be to teach youngsters how important physical fitness can be and how much they can do through self-discipline and a respect for their bodies.

Girls as well as boys need to learn how best to use the talents, abilities and gifts they have been given in life. These include their physical abilities and their willingness to work as a team for a purpose.

Wider participation of girls and young women in school sports might also serve to put these sports, for both men and women, in their proper perspective as games and not the end-all of living.

was still apparent. Peronistas won heavily at the polls in a national election but the military leaders refused to let them take office. For some reason the move seemed to discourage Peron backers. In the next election, word came from Madrid to cast blank ballots in protest but the orders were generally ignored. And speeches taped by Peron and broadcast at public gatherings have drawn yawns.

Peron has stayed just a jump ahead of various revolutions in his eight years of exile. He originally fled to Buenos Aires, then to Panama, Paraguay, Nicaragua, the Dominican Republic and finally to Spain. There seems little indication that he can win back the blind support that he once had.

And yet Argentine authorities may be making a serious mistake. In their efforts to humiliate Peron they risk making him a martyr. And the present Argentine regime is hardly secure or stable enough to start looking for crippled dragons to slay or extra challenges to face.

Brilliant Union Cavalry Feat

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from Appleton Motor for Dec. 31, 1863.

Gen. Averill has returned from a successful expedition into Southwestern Virginia, in the course of which he destroyed some 15 miles of the Virginia and East Tennessee Railroad, west of Lynchburg, as well as the telegraph lines.

He appears to have done his work thoroughly, beating and then bending the rails, making them useless, burning the sleepers and bridges and breaking down the culverts.

The telegraph wire was rolled up and burned until it was destroyed. Three of the enemy's depots of grain, meal and flour—prepared perhaps for Longstreet's succor—were also burned up.

Gen. Averill appears to have seriously alarmed the rebels. He found six different commands concentrating to oppose him and capture his forces, but he cut his way through the rebels' lines, crossed a column four miles long over Jackson's River in safety, in the face of the enemy, and made his way back to our lines.

Gen. Averill and his men deserve the highest credit for their activity, endurance and bravery. Their operations were conducted in a dangerous,

Bowles Offers Some New Ideas On Emphasis in Our Foreign Aid

BY MAX FREEDMAN

Mr. Chester Bowles, the United States ambassador to India, has just delivered four lectures at Delhi University. The first of them should have a most beneficial effect on future discussions of economic development. Although his primary concern is with India, his analysis has valuable lessons for developing nations throughout Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Freedman

Few Americans could speak to an Asian audience with the frankness and sense of challenge which Mr. Bowles has displayed in these lectures. His audiences, knowing that he is a friend of India and of all the emergent nations, welcome mountainous country, far away from their base and cut off from all hope of help.

While we praise the general for his genius, we must also give credit to the gallant regiments he so ably led. They were the Second, Third and Eighth Virginia Mounted Infantry, the 14th Pennsylvania, Dodson's Cavalry Battalion and Ewing's Battery.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Dec. 17, 1938.

Orville Kalkoske, Neenah, was appointed to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis by Congressman M. K. Reilly. Kalkoske is a June graduate of Neenah High School.

Miss Ruth Luebke was elected president of the Ora et Labora Sunday School Class of Emmanuel Evangelical Church, Appleton. Miss Phyllis Lind was named treasurer and Mrs. John Eichman secretary.

The Christmas playlet, "The Street of Hearts," was presented by the junior department of First Congregational Church, Appleton. Taking part in the dramatic effort were Ralph Hauer, William Younger, Alice Ann Hammer, William Knapp, Dolores Hartzell, Gretchen Schubert, Joan Hauert, Alice Hintz, Lynn Miller, Bonnie Jackson, Barbara Jones, Russell Niermeyer, Tom Orblison, Wayne Londsford, Shirley Foresman and Robert Bell.

The Little Chute American Legion Auxiliary Chorus presented a Christmas program at Riverview Sanatorium. Besides the chorus' musical numbers, the group presented a Christmas skit with the following members taking part: Mrs. Jesse Bevers, Mrs. William Zornow, Mrs. Robert Vandenberg, Mrs. Glen Jansen, Mrs. James Vandenberg and Mrs. Harry Vandenberg.

The Webelos award, highest in Cub Scouting, was presented to Robert Crane, Karl Hohnberger, Peter Bartman and Wayne Winterborn, all of Pack 25 of Sacred Heart School.

Clintonville High School juniors in charge of the all-school party with the theme "Winter Wonderland" included Jerry Neinke, class president, Luther Spechhard, vice president; Shirley Fischer, secretary-treasurer.

A Real Physical Fitness Program

ed criticisms from him that it would have rejected from most Western spokesmen.

In essence, Mr. Bowles is pleading for a revision of first principles. He wants us to look at economic development in the larger context of nation-building. This shift in emphasis would mean that we would care less about the exact size of the foreign aid budget than we would about the social and economic purposes to be served by our aid program. It would also mean that we would give higher priority to rural development than to industrial expansion. It would liberate us from our bondage to economic statistics, as if the rate of growth told the whole story, and allow us instead to concentrate on the problems which are sharpened by this very process of change.

FOUGHT FOR SELF-HELP

In one of these lectures Ambassador Bowles recalls that as a member of Congress he wanted to impose the obligation of self-help on every recipient of American aid. He might have added that he always used his influence as a senior member of the Kennedy administration to discourage the notion that mistaken objectives could be redeemed by large expenditures of American funds. The basic policy, in his judgment, was always more important than the budget for the aid program. This emphasis on the objectives of foreign aid should clarify the decisions of Congress next year when it again undertakes a major review of the whole program.

It should be added that there is nothing in these lectures to encourage the developing nations to expect help from Russia or China or Cuba. On the contrary, Mr. Bowles cites conclusive evidence to prove that the Communist world is burdened by so many problems that its scope for economic assistance is very limited. It follows that the United States and other free nations can pursue their own programs without a haunting sense of being suddenly overtaken by a Communist intrusion in the affairs of the underdeveloped world.

Mr. Bowles thinks the most successful example of land reform has taken place in Japan. But Japan's experience has only limited meaning for other nations which cannot match her high degree of literacy or her respect for central authority. Yet the problem of rural development must remain the main focus of American interest, for the bulk of the population lives in the countryside, and they can be given no sense of identity with the government if it concentrates primarily on industrial development in the cities.

Mr. Bowles is not arguing against this industrial development. He is pleading instead for a system of balanced development in which greater emphasis is given to national purpose; and he is asking everyone to remember that it will take more time and labor to vitalize rural areas than to quicken the rate of industrial expansion. He has set before us, in short, not only an enlarged program of priorities but a new time-scale for judging the success of American aid.

At present about 10 per cent of India's farmers own more than 50 per cent of the land, with one per cent owning nearly one-fifth of the total land under cultivation.

"COMMUNITY FIRSTERS"

Mr. Bowles tells us that the fundamental debate dividing India is between the "community firsters," who believe in the balanced development of the whole rural community, and the "agriculture firsters," who think primarily in terms of increased agricultural output.

This same debate in fact is being heard in every country now seeking rapid economic development. Many American officials favor the large landowner because he is the more efficient producer. But this economic efficiency is often purchased at a grievous political price, and in the end social tension may imperil and destroy the actual economic gains. Mr. Bowles has presented such a cogent and persuasive case for systematic rural development that his principles will surely be taken into account in the next foreign aid program.

'Close Hard Look' at State Civil Defense Is Badly Needed Now

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Gov. Reynolds' recent remark that he chose a close personal friend as civil defense director of the state to take a "close hard look" at the civil defense establishment and its service got less public notice than it probably deserved.

Wyngaard

For the civil defense bureau is one of the most uncertain of the administrative divisions of the state government, from the viewpoint of public understanding and interest, on the one hand, and from the viewpoint of legislative conviction and appreciation, on the other.

All of the chief legislators and the governors who have held office since World War II have periodically expressed their doubts about what a civil defense organization should be, what it should cost, and whether any really effective program can be provided for the amount of money either the Congress or the state is likely to be willing to provide.

MONFILS TAKES OVER

Now the governor has chosen Owen Monfils, an old Green Bay friend and trusted political associate, to make what will amount to an outsider's independent appraisal. Monfils didn't especially want to drop his law practice to come to Madison to take a job. He did so at the urging of his friend in the governor's office. He knows that his tenure, at best, will be brief. If another governor is elected next year the new head of the state will be likely to bring in his own man, as would be his right under the law. Thus he can make his assessment without the motive of self-preservation that so often intrudes in public affairs.

The new head of the office may discover when he turns up at work this week that the organization is not regarded as one of the firmly established services of the state government, from its quarters and its location, among other things. It is housed in a distant part of the city, quite out of contact with the rest of the state establishment. It has a relatively small staff. For the last couple of months, in fact, it operated without a leader. The previous director quit last summer and the governor evidently had some difficulty in recruiting the kind of man he wanted.

THE STATUS

The purpose of the bureau broadly stated, is to develop and maintain an emergency net-work of protective services that could be mobilized in the event of enemy attack. Without any intention here of disparaging the men who have worked diligently and hard in the Bureau and its auxiliaries in the localities, there is considerable doubt among legislators and others that an effective machine has yet been created in spite of a decade and a half of trying.

The failure is obviously in large part the result of the indecision of the policy-makers. The national government's policy remains unclear after years of discussion, at least to this reporter. The state's policy as represented in legislative enactments can best be described as contradictory. One legislative finance committee after another has listened to the defense officials with indifference tinged with some feelings of guilt. The tendency has been to grant a little more money than the politicians are really convinced is needed, but substantially less than the defense technicians insist ought to be provided if the program is considered seriously enough to be worth continuing.

There lingers the recollection of one rugged and conservative legislative financier who listened to a civil defense budget appeal with scarcely concealed impatience, and then left the hearing room remarking privately to a reporter:

"What will I have on my conscience if it turns out that they are right?"

Strictly Personal

Why Think of History Only in Past Tense?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Our understanding of the nature of "law" has sunk so low in this country that Dallas lawyers were afraid to accept the defense of Oswald for fear that public disapproval would ruin their careers — a pathetic commentary on the ignorance and prejudice so deeply imbedded in this presumably "civilized" nation.

Harris

Another illuminating aspect of the recent tragedy was the way in which people spoke of "history" in the sense of "I thought such things happened only in history" — without any consciousness that today is history, also, and that each individual act performed in the present is an integral part of the closely-woven fabric of history.

Speaking of this short-sighted attitude, we ought to keep in mind the remarkably apt saying of Thomas Arnold a century ago: "Two things we should learn from history — one, that we are not in ourselves superior to our fathers; another, that we are shamefully and monstrously inferior to them, if we do not advance beyond them."

And the final twist of irony in the whole macabre episode is the general agreement that President Kennedy would have been safer parading down the streets of Moscow than he was within our own national borders.

Many people are willing to be generous who are not willing to be just: their generosity is the price they agreeably pay for withholding justice when it suits their purpose.

For all the furor about "education" in this country, ask a dozen persons what, in their estimation, the proper end of education is, and you will receive a dozen different answers: until we can agree on the goal, how can we evolve any rational program or even know what we are talking about when we use the word "education"?

A marriage will flourish when it is composed of two persons who will nurse each other; it may even survive when one is a nurse and the other an invalid; but it is sure to collapse when it consists of two invalids, each needing a nurse.

Those who inordinately enjoy Mardi Gras and such masked festivals must feel extremely repressed when dressed in civilian clothes with their faces showing; for it is only when they are costumed and masked that they feel free to express themselves — a curious psychological reversal, when concealment becomes a form of disclosure.

We succeed best in those enterprises which not merely call upon our virtues and talents, but which also in some way are able to make use of our defects: as, for instance, the neurotic psychoanalyst who employs his defect in the service of his craft.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Ideal Christmas gifts: For Lyndon B. Johnson — A little blue jay, so he could have an L.B. Jay Bird around the house.

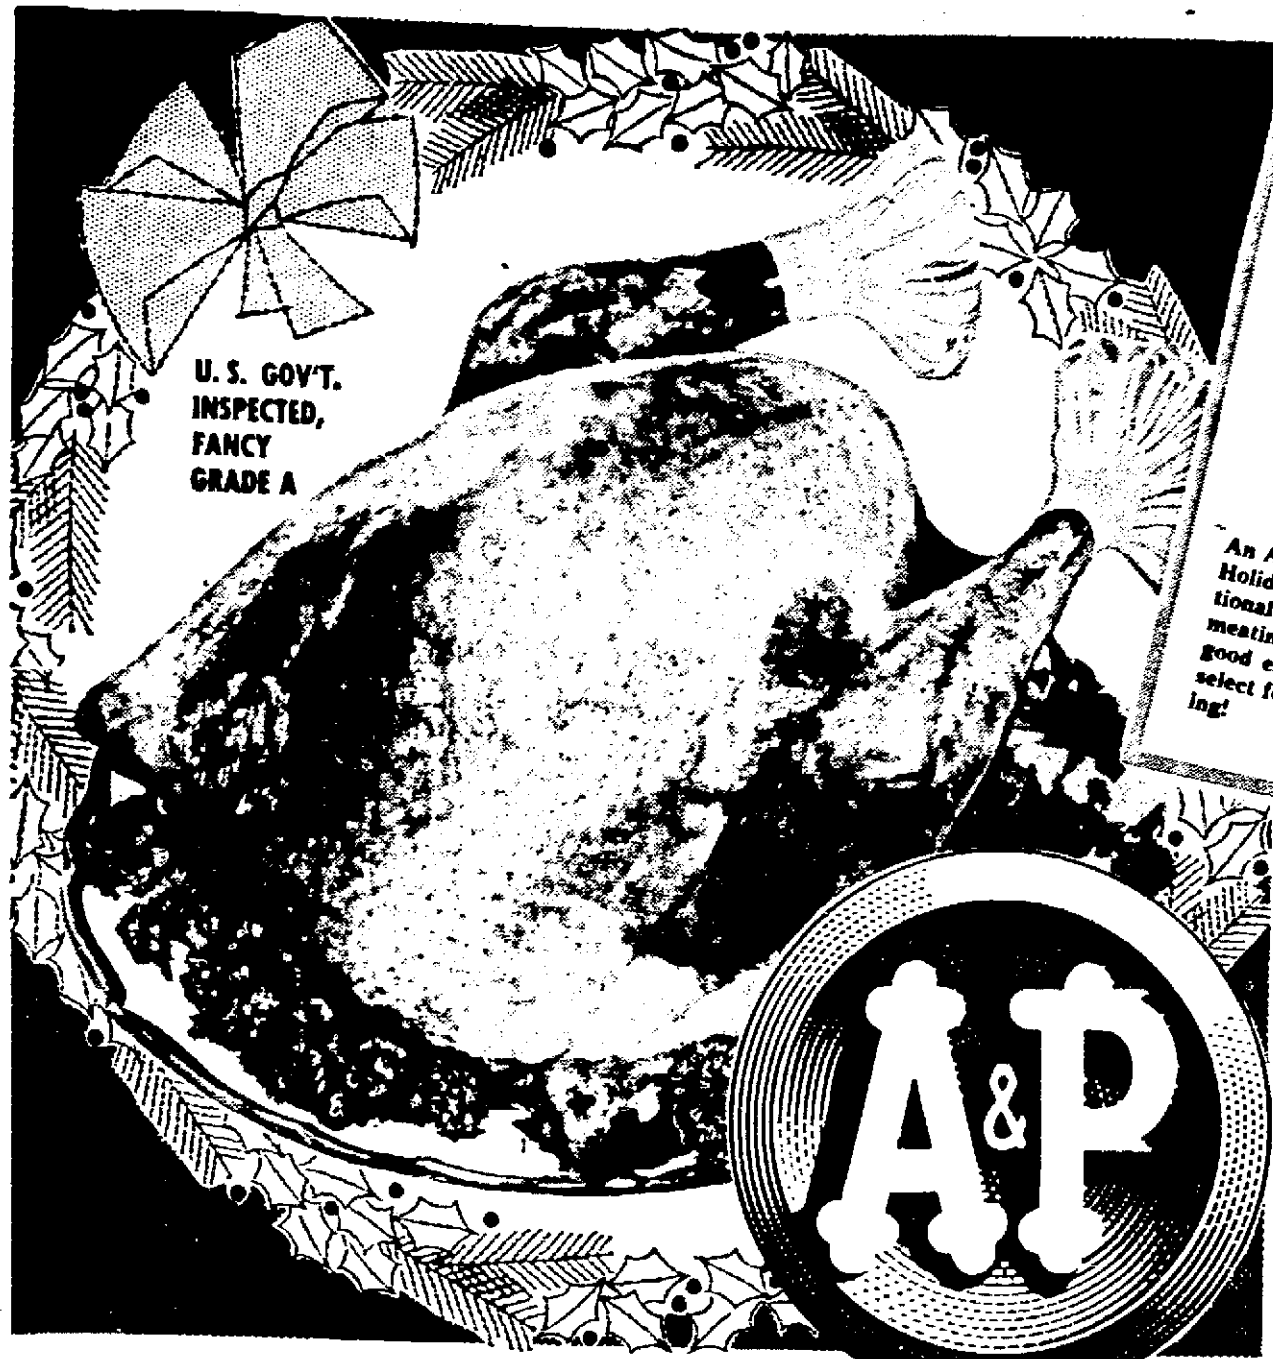

For Michigan's Gov. George Romney — A good voice coach to teach him to speak Republican.

For Italian film directors — An instant diet, to be sold with admission tickets, enabling the audience to shrink down as thin as the plot.

For Sonny Liston — A world heavyweight championship fight with the Strategic Air Command.

For Bobby Baker — The vending machine concession at the 1964 Olympic Games, including the new machine that does deep-knee vends.

For Nelson Rockefeller—Honorable mention.

Wagner College '5' They'll Do It Every Time

Surprises NYU

Villanova Hands Toledo First Loss; Tulsa Nips Michigan State

BY MIKE RATHET THUD. The sounds you just heard were seventh-ranked NYU stumbling again, and ninth-ranked Toledo falling for the first time. The bigger sound came from Staten Island in New York, where NYU tripped over little Wagner College, and bowed 77-75 Wednesday night on Hank Pedro's jump shot with five seconds remaining in overtime. The smaller sound came from Philadelphia, where Toledo - NYU's first conqueror - ran into an aggressive Villanova team led by Wally Jones and lost its first in seven games, 63-59. Three other Top Ten teams were in action, but they met with considerably more success. Fourth-ranked Cincinnati beat Colorado 82-64, eighth-ranked Vanderbilt stunned Texas Christian 113-56 and 10th-ranked Davidson walloped Furman 89-63.

Grace Hansel Hits 226-541 At 41 Bowl

Vernie Welch Posts 537 in National Circuit

Grace Hansel smacked a 226 game and 541 series to take individual honors in the Tag-A-Long League at the 41 Bowl Tuesday night. Pierce Auto (30-15) is the league leader and other honor scores included Beatrice Otto, 195 and Jane Van Toll, 193. Peg Rutten slammed a 207 game and Vernie Welch had a 537 series to pace the Women's National League at the 41 Bowl last night. Ace Floors (30-15) leads Jacobson's by one-half game. Peg finished with a 522 series and Vernie had a 199 game. Aggie Fuhs had a 216 game and Gerrie LaBore slammed a 533 series to share honors in the Ten Pin Toppers League at Hahn's Lanes Tuesday. Aggie finished with a 504 series. Merkes Electric (34-14) is the league leader. Other honor scores included June Kampf, 203-500; Gertie Schiesl, 505; Elsie Pollard, 192-508.

Bowling Tips

BY DON CARTER AND MARION LADEWIG

Wrong Time to Raise

In bowling, as in poker, there is a right and a wrong time to raise. The lady in the illustration appears to have done many things right, but she has straightened up too quickly after delivering the ball. The tendency is to come up sooner and sooner, producing a less effective ball. Stay down. Recall how good baseball pitchers hold their throwing position as the ball heads for the batter.

HERE'S BOWLING IN A NUTSHELL: Outlined for you in detail in the pocket- or purse-sized pamphlet, "Control Tips for Beginners." To get your copy, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Marion Ladewig, care of this newspaper.

Don Plass Tops Couples League

Don Plass posted a 541 series to lead the Beer Couples League in recent action at the 41 Bowl. Betty Lemberger was tops for the women with a 190 game. Al Grest had the only other honor score in the league, a 534 series. Gettlemen (17-7) is the league leader with Blatz and Harum tied for second, one game out.

DRY FUEL WOOD KNOKE LUMBER CO. 311 N. Linwood Ave. Phone 3-4483

Elsewhere, Bill Kusieka's basket with one second left gave Tulsa an 89-66 victory over Michigan State. Joe Adamitis lay-up with 46 seconds remaining pulled George Washington to a 60-57 triumph over Richmond and Larry Linkins scored 40 points in North Carolina State's 104-83 romp over Tulane.

In other surprises, Army downed previously unbeaten Ohio University 58-45. Hofstra defeated Navy 82-81. Manhattan downed Temple 75-73 and Arizona overcame California 61-53 for its first victory over the Bears since the 1923-24 season.

NYU reeled off 11 straight points for a 67-64 lead with three minutes to go in regulation time but with 1:10 left the Seahawks had pulled into a tie. In overtime, the Violets built a 76-71 lead before baskets by Pedro and Van Neher cut the deficit. Kramer then missed on a one-and-one foul situation that could have clinched it, and Pedro followed with his winning shot.

Villanova's Jones boy was the outstanding ball hawk in a Wildcat zone defense that handcuffed Toledo until Larry Jones connected for their first basket at 14:20, and the Rockets never left the launching pad. Jones was high man for Villanova with 18 points while Ray Wolford topped Toledo with 20. Cincinnati snapped Colorado's 28-game home court winning streak as Ron Bonham tied his career high with a 32-point effort.

Jack Lamers Powers 636 Kegling Set

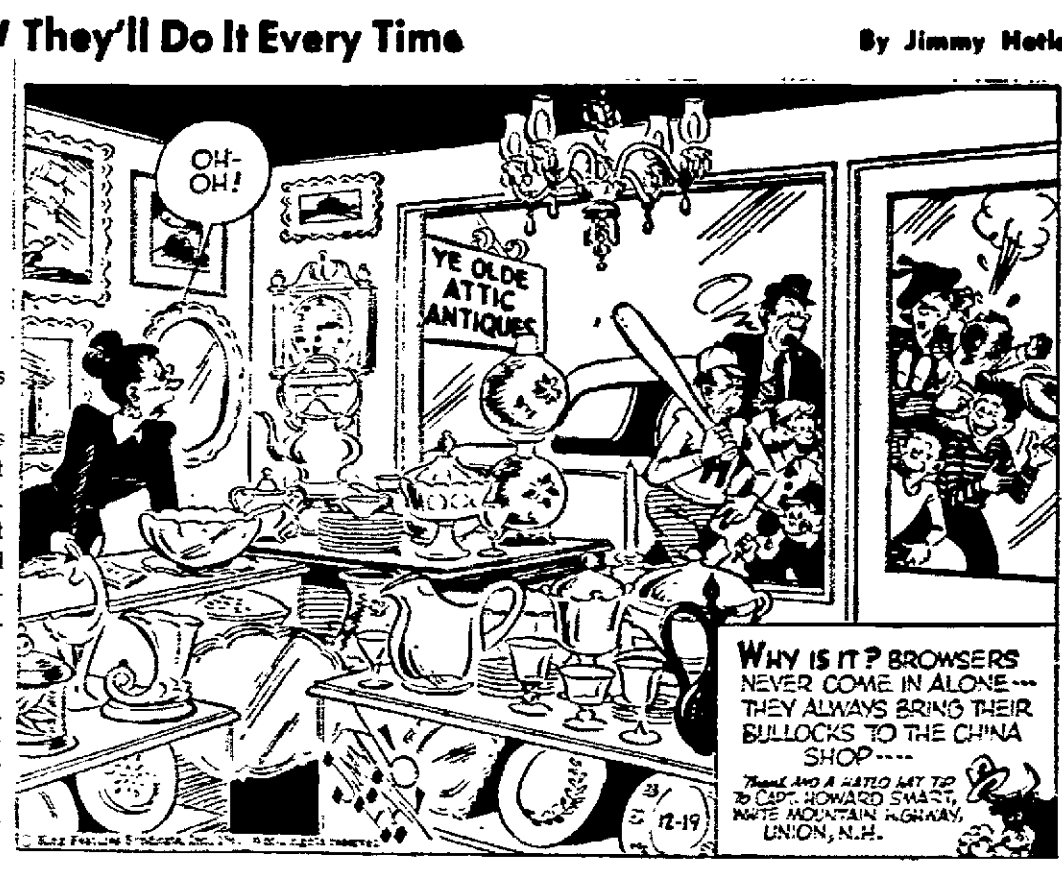

Jack Lamers powered a 232 singleton and a 636 series to pace make-up action in the Fox Valley League at Little Chute Recreation. Other honor scores were Hilby Jim Hartjes, 578; Bob Siewers, 568, and Vin Schampers, 548. In regular league action preceding make-up matches, Clem Verbeeten blasted 233, 600. Jansen's Construction leads with a 30-15 mark followed by Butler's Bar with a 25-10-192 record. Other high scores were posted by Don Sanderfoot, 583; Jerry Mignon, 593; Glen Munster, 580; Francis LeNoble, 572; Jerry Lamers, 570; Vin Jansen, 569; John Gerrits, 564; Don LeNoble, 559, and Mel Buetow, 228. Wayne Kilsdonk triggered a 611 series to pace the Businessmen's American League at Jerry's Lanes, Kimberly. Vince Vanden Boogaard rapped 237 and 559 and Ken Williams had a 557.

McKinley, Ralston Say They Have No Immediate Pro Plans

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—reopening of negotiations and I should the Americans recapitulate the Davis Cup from the pro tennis at all. Ralston, newest sensation of American tennis, said flatly he is not interested in a pro career. Tilden days in the early 1920s and the Jack Kramer era just after World War II. The two top U.S. aces, Chuck McKinley, 23, and Dennis Ralston, 22, emphasized that they have no immediate pro plans and expect to be playing in amateur ranks for the next several years.

"The pros made me an unsatisfactory offer and I rejected it figure such as perhaps $100,000," said Wimbledon champion McKinley. "I do not expect any ability."

Wausau Newman in extra-league activity. Premontre has made frequent use of the full-court press and the fast break.

The Hawks, masters of the pressing defense, have whipped league foes Marinette, St. John and St. Mary and have measured Newman and Marshfield in non-league tests. The rivals will be similar in size—with the Hawks' Bob DeBruin and the Cadets' Don Scheinoha their teams' tallest regulars at about 6-3.

Requests Jacket be Sent

The Era of Ara Has Dawned With Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—vice president and chairman of the athletic board. The era of Ara has dawned in the athletic board.

When Parseghian returned to the fold his first request was that he wanted a Notre Dame jacket sent to him so he could wear it to the East-West Shrine game Dec. 28 in San Francisco, where he will be a member of the East coaching staff.

Attended To This was promptly attended to, it was confirmed Wednesday night by Father Hesburgh. After returning to South Bend from the East, Father Hesburgh told The Associated Press:

"Father Joyce ordered the jacket sent to Parseghian immediately and he should have it by now."

Parseghian becomes the first non-Catholic Notre Dame coach since the immortal Knute Rockne, whose regime was from 1918 to 1930. The Rock, however, was converted to Catholicism in 1925.

Ara also is the first non-alumnus of Notre Dame to be head coach since Jesse Harper in 1913-1917. Ed McKeever, a 1944-war-time coach, was a Texas Tech graduate but served his freshmen football year at Notre Dame under Rockne.

Hank Peerenboom Hits 28 Points In 107-89 Victory

Shrine Game Players Report For Practice

Both East and West Squads to Use Pro Type Offenses

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Football players of the East and the West report today for what one coach referred to as their preview of pro ball.

For a majority of the 48 collegians who will play in this 39th annual Shrine East-West game at Kezar Stadium on Dec. 28 have been drafted by professional teams. Many have already signed contracts. Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse, an assistant coach for the East, pointed out at the coaches' meeting with newsmen Wednesday that this game has been a preview for some of the great pros of today.

Both squads will use the prototype offense with split ends and flanker backs although the west with Baylor's Don Trull and Southern California's Pete Beathard at quarterback can be expected to pass more than the East.

Fleet Backs Coach Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue, head coach of the East, can counter this aerial offense with some fleet backs including Sherman Lewis of Michigan State, Paul Krause of Iowa - signed just Tuesday by the Washington Redskins - and Jay Wilkinson of Duke.

Either Ron DiGravio of Purdue or Pete Liske of Penn State, a New York Jet signee, will be at quarterback for the East.

Jim Sutherland, who coached Washington State through 1963, heads the West coaching staff and his squad includes, in addition to throwers, such pass catchers as Vern Burke of Oregon State, Dave Parks of Texas Tech, Mel Profit of UCLA and Willie Brown of Southern California.

The West also has speed in the backfield including a pair from Arizona State - Tony Loric, sought by both Oakland and Baltimore, and Chuck Taylor, the No. 1 draft choice of Washington, who has signed with the NFL team.

Kaline Signs '64 Contract For $62,000

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline signed his 1964 contract with the Detroit Tigers Wednesday and almost immediately began talking about the coming season. The Tigers' all-star outfielder reportedly signed for $62,000, a raise of about $5,000 from last year. This makes him the second highest paid player in Detroit history. Hal Newhouse reportedly got as much as $72,000 at the height of his career.

Hank Greenberg received $80,000 in 1946, but $20,000 of this was in the form of a bonus after he was traded to Pittsburgh.

Kaline missed almost two weeks of play during the 1963 season, but still batted .312, second best in the American League. He had 27 home runs and 101 runs batted in.

Billy Joe Top AFL Rookie

DENVER FULLBACK HAS NETTED 648 YARDS IN 13 CONTESTS

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The American Football League's Rookie of the Year is a friendly, young fullback with a troublesome name.

He's Billy Joe of Denver, whose powerful thrusts through the middle of opposing lines have inspired even more comments than his usual last name.

"Billy Joe who?" is such a common response that Joe jokingly says he ought to change his last name to "Who."

And although he's a star, Joe often gets by using the alias "Billy Jones" to avoid bothersome explanations.

"I can say 'Billy Jones,' they'll give me a key, and I can go on to my hotel room with no questions asked," he says.

Villanova Standout One place where the former Villanova standout can't get by with an alias, however, is in Bear Stadium at Denver, where fans often whip it up with the catchy chant: "Go, Joe!"

The 248-pound back scored his first touchdown as a pro on a 66-yard sprint in the Broncos' opening game against Boston in September. Not exceedingly fast, Joe was caught from behind by a Boston halfback on the 10-yard line but carried the defender piggyback into the end zone.

In 13 games he's netted 648 yards, averaging 4.2 yards per carry, and should add to the total in the season's finale against San Diego Sunday. His yardage total is tops for any rookie in the AFL.

A hip injury makes Joe a doubtful starter Sunday. But he says he will play.

a 226 game. Other honor scores included Ralph Wickesberg, 227-551; Don Mauthe, 600 and Jerry Bohl, 555.

No individual honor scores were recorded in the Bush League at Michiel's Bowl in New London in recent action. Kohl's is the league leader. Kohl's is two games off the pace.

Appletonian Goes East To Do His Pioneering

James McKenzie's Active Interest In Theater Goes Back to Childhood

BY JINGO
About a century ago, a meddlesome, little editor caught the imagination of the nation's youth with the phrase, "Go West, young man. Go West." The youth did and pioneers streamed into the isolated stretches of the nation's heartland and plains.

Jingo

Today, however, a young man from the "West," the Fox Cities to be exact, has turned the tide and has gone East to do his pioneering. He's James McKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil McKenzie, 66 Garden Ct., Appleton. James' activities in summer theater in Door County with the Peninsula Players are well known here in his home town, but it is only a fraction of McKenzie's experience in summer stock.

Now he has turned that experience into pioneering the summer stock idea all year around at the renowned Westport, Conn., Playhouse. The fall season ended on Dec. 1 and a spring season will conclude this first year of experiments. It is believed that McKenzie again will spend his summer in Door County.

Theater has been a part of McKenzie's life ever since he rewrote and produced "Hamlet" as a parish youth activity here when he was 11 years old.

He wrote other plays during his high school days, winning the Wisconsin State Playwright's Scholarship with a drama about a sinking passenger ship. He roped behind stage. David made new describes this work as "awful." After studying theater at Wisconsin, Iowa and Columbia, he got his first taste of professional theater when he appeared at the Peninsula Players.

He returned to Fish Creek for great possibilities in the fall several summers, working his and spring theater, envisioning a

Mrs. Marvin Kilsdonk Stabbed to Death in Presence of Infant Son

BLACK CREEK — An unknown assailant who fatal- ly stabbed a pretty Black Creek housewife early Wed- nesday morning nine times in the presence of her 2- month-old son, then fled, leaving the mother lying in a pool of blood under a kitchen table and the baby un- harmed is the object of a statewide police hunt today.

Outagamie County Sheriff authorities have yet to come up with a motive into the brutal slaying of Mrs. Florence Kilsdonk, 28, route 1, Black Creek, whose mutilated body was found about 2:30 p.m. by her hus- band, Marvin, 29.

State crime laboratory specialists moved into the fields and area surrounding the state-white farmhouse, a half-mile east of Black Creek on State 54, shortly after 10 a.m. today seeking clues to the slayer. Sheriff officials sealed the home off after they completed a preliminary investigation before 10 p.m. Wednesday. An armed deputy stood guard in the farmhouse overnight.

Sheriff Calvin Spice said his department is question- ing two suspects, but he would not elaborate. One of the suspects is believed re- lated to the dead woman.

Another was allegedly seen sleeping in his car Wednes- day morning near the farm- home where the murder took place.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A former member of the Tennes- see Legislature has become the second lawyer barred from fed- eral court practice for being in- volved in alleged attempts to fix the jury that tried James R. Hoffa here last year.

Harry Beard Jr. of Lebanon, Tenn., a former state represent- ative, was disbarred in an or- der signed Wednesday by U.S. Dist. Judges William E. Miller and Frank Gray Jr.

The judges accused Beard of discussing with Z. T. Osborn Jr., Hoffa's Nashville lawyer, prop- osals on how to get a juror to vote for the acquittal of Hoffa, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. Os- born was disbarred by the judg- es last month and subsequently indicted by a federal grand ju- ry.

Osborn, the judges said, asked Beard to contact the hus- band of a juror and offer him $10,000. The grand jury indict- ment in the Osborn case identi- fied the juror's husband as D. M. Harrison.

Gen. Taylor Tries To Improve Relations Of U. S. and Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chair- man of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, arrived here today to try to improve strained Pakistan- U.S. relations.

Group Seeks to Reserve Land for Route to New Outagamie Airport Site

Limited Access Hampers Plans To Extend W. College Avenue

Appleton will be asked to re-serve land on official maps for extension of W. College Avenue to the site of the new Outagamie County Airport.

Technical advisory committee of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission voted Tuesday to ask that a 219-foot right-of-way with access every half mile be reserved.

The new field is expected to be in use by next fall.

However, the committee agreed the highway should not be extended until an interchange at U. S. 41 and W. College is constructed.

District State Highway Engineer Leroy Empey said this would not be for another five to 10 years, even with an "early priority."

He said the State Highway Commission decides on construction of such facilities "as

Limit Access

In the meantime, the committee agreed to "get along with Spencer Road."

Clarence Brownson, Outagamie County highway commissioner, said he thought it would be "smart to go out and buy the right-of-way as soon as possible."

He pointed out construction of the road would tend to develop the area.

Committee members also agreed to the matter of limiting access to the proposed highway, but action on this is hampered, they said, by a bill being considered by the State Legislature, which would permit counties to limit access to highways.

Brownson said there is some public opposition to limiting access.

"People think you are taking something away from them, when actually you are giving them something," he added.

The access problem cropped up again in a discussion of development of E. College Avenue.

Brownson said he has had $50,000 available for the work for the last two years, but because the county wants to limit access to the street, no land has been purchased.

Referred Question

The committee referred the question to the plan commission's legal committee to determine whether a county can buy land with an eye to developing it with limited access, assuming the bill will be approved by the legislature.

Town of Harrison officials, who last week expressed concern for the future of Lake Park and Plank roads, in the path of a proposed expressway, were advised to go ahead with improvement plans.

The town officials said the planned improvements of the highways — primarily resurfacing — were being held up until more definite information was available about work on the expressway.

Committee members indicated the two roads would not be affected for at least five years, and possibly more.

Final Payment

Chilton Gets $56,947 Income Tax; Council Okays Zone Change

CHILTON — The city's share of income tax from the state seek more information on the year totaled $56,947. City clerk Arthur Pohland reported to the city council.

A $12,184 check, representing the final payment of the year, was received by the city last week. The first two apportionment checks amounted to $44,763, Pohland said.

Chilton's 1963 utility tax apportionment is $12,364.65. This is approximately $1,400 more than the 1962 figure of about $11,400, Pohland said.

Half of the utility tax must be turned over to the school district to comply with a 1939 law. Pohland told the council the law is obsolete and should be abolished.

According to the statute, when a school district has territory in two counties, one of which is over 50,000 population and one under 50,000, half of the utility tax must be paid to the school district. Chilton School District has a small parcel of land in Manitowish County.

The council approved the contract with Calumet County for the use of police radio services. The contract calls for a payment of $22.50 per month.

The council heard a proposal from the mayor of Sheboygan asking the city to consider joining a proposed regional planning district comprised of Calumet, Brown, Door, Fond du Lac, Kewaunee, Manitowish and Sheboygan counties. City Clerk Ar-

2 More Stations Considering Applying for FM Radio Permits

WDUX, Waupaca, WOSH, Oshkosh, Announce Plans to File With FCC

Owners of WOSH Radio, Oshkosh, announced Wednesday a FM permit application.

Improvements in FM have with the Federal Communications Commission for a permit to build an FM station.

William Walker, president of Walker Group Stations, owners of Valley Radio Corp., operator of WOSH, said his firm has been studying the possibility of applying for class A channel 244.

96.7 m.c., allocated to Oshkosh by the FCC. Walker said his firm may make a decision at a meeting on FM in January.

Two Fox Cities Stations, WAPL, Appleton, and WNAM, Neenah, already have filed with the FCC for FM permits. WDUX Radio, Waupaca, is attempting to have an allocation moved to the city so it can file for an FM permit application.

There are two educational FM stations, WHKW, Chilton, and WLFM, Appleton, and one commercial station, WBAY - FM, Green Bay, serving the Fox Valley area. WBKV-FM, West Bend, serves part of Winnebago County, and WSAU-FM, Wausau, serves part of Waupaca County.

Local station managers cite two improvements for entering the FM market. FM is considerably higher fidelity than AM with no static or interference, and through special equipment, an FM station can broadcast in stereo over a single channel.

Single-station stereo is not possible with AM.

FM went through another boom in the late 1940s and early 1950s, when stereo and high fidelity were almost unheard-of terms. Broadcasters then tried to market FM on its lack of static and interference.

In the early 1960s, the Fox Valley was served by WNAM, FM, Neenah, WOSH-FM, Oshkosh, WHKW, Chilton, and WTAQ-FM (now WBAY) and WJPG-FM in Green Bay.

SUGAR BUSH — Santa Claus will arrive here at 2:30 p.m. Saturday to distribute Christmas treats to area children. They will await his arrival near the Christmas tree and Nativity scene.

At the early 1960s, the Fox Valley was served by WNAM, FM, Neenah, WOSH-FM, Oshkosh, WHKW, Chilton, and WTAQ-FM (now WBAY) and WJPG-FM in Green Bay.

Bid Letting to Decide Fate of New Chilton Well

Existing Test Hole Has Been Source of Drilling Problem

CHILTON — A future bid letting by the city council will decide the fate of a test hole drilled in quest of water during the past summer at Douglas and Webster Streets.

Cost proposals will determine if the hole is to be developed into a well for the city water department or if it is to be abandoned and a new test hole drilled.

A deposit of decomposed limestone to a depth of 36 feet requires a costly seal to keep impurities out of the water in the present site.

According to Vincent Reinkober, utilities commission chairman, there are two alternatives: To continue with the present well and effect a seal at 36 feet and attempt to develop it.

Abandon the present site, move a short distance and drill a new test hole.

By moving to a new site, drillers may escape the decomposed limestone which sifts impurities into the water.

The present hole is being drilled with a 20 inch casing to the 36 foot depth at which the seal can be effected. The hole is presently being drilled at a cost of $17.50 per foot. A 24 inch hole would up the cost to $25 per foot.

Reason for not moving an entirely new site is to enable the water to be stored, pumped, softened and chlorinated at an abandoned well nearby.

The plans are being prepared. Before the water from any well can be used it must be approved by the State Board of Health.

If the present well is continued with the seal to a depth of 36 feet the productivity may be seriously hampered. Whereby a new well might escape the decomposed limestone which sifts impurities into the water.

Friday's Games: Brillon at Valders. New Holstein at Chilton. Kiel at Oostburg. Elkhart Lake at Sheboygan Falls. Plymouth at Kohler.

Chilton — Chilton will play two basketball games this weekend. Friday the Tigers play powerful New Holstein at home and Saturday will challenge West De Pere there in a non-conference tilt.

Last week the Tigers won a thriller from Kiel in an overtime, 70-68. The New Holstein Huskies lost to Valders last week, 67-62, giving the Vikings the conference lead.

The Huskies are favorites, and barring an extra effort by the Tigers, should win. Chilton must play errorless ball in order to overcome the pre-season pick for the league championship.

Vogel Scored 29

Chilton will depend on Jim Vogel who scored 29 points against Kiel and excelled during the overtime period. Freshman Don McHugh scored only eight points, for the Tigers but came through when it counted during the overtime by stealing the ball and scoring to put Chilton in the game.

The Brillon Lions, who last week fell to a 100 point scoring spurge by Elkhart Lake, this week will travel to Valders to take on the league leaders.

With the Vikings' well balanced lineup and the home floor advantage, they should continue their winning ways. But if Jim White, who scored 33 points last week against the Resorters and Gary Behnke who added 21 to good nights, the Lions could give the Vikings a run for their money.

Kiel will travel to Oostburg. The Flying Dutchmen have been an off and on team so far this season, but usually turn in a good showing on their home court. Still stinging from an overtime defeat at the hands of the Chilton Tigers, the Raiders may be out for blood but the

Sheriff Finds Men Have No Gasoline Funds

Money Ran Out Due To Higher Costs Of '63 Operations

Outagamie County's Sheriff Department has run out of money with which to buy gasoline.

Sheriff Calvin Spice said today his investigative branch of the department is completely without funds to operate through the rest of the month.

The division had $445 as of Dec. 1, but spending at the rate of $150 per day, the department went broke about Dec. 4.

County Business Administrator Alvin Woelher said a request to transfer $5,000 from a county-wide wage adjustment fund will be made Monday to the county's executive committee. The money will be used to meet $2,832 for seven payrolls, for gasoline mileage and other expenses arising in December. The request does not need the approval of the Outagamie County Board of Supervisors because $15,000 had been earmarked by county board approval for wage and mileage adjustments if the need arises.

More Manpower
Woelher said the deficit came about because of the increased manpower in the sheriff's department this year. Spice has hired two investigators and three jailers.

When the new positions were approved in May, the supervisors approved a transfer of $10,000 to the sheriff's department to cover the salaries. Woelher said today the $10,000 transfer was not enough.

Approximately $6,000 of the transfer was shifted to the jail department to cover the salaries of the new jailers. Only $4,000 was shifted to the investigative division which was needed to cover equipment purchases, salaries and mileage for the new investigators.

Buy Equipment
Spice said he was forced to buy weapons and equip the cars of his investigators from the fund, as well as to pay the salaries. Woelher said the budget allocated to the jail department of the sheriff's department is adequate to meet the needs of the remaining few days of the month.

Spice's budget for 1963 was approximately $52,000. In 1964, he requested a budget of $67,000. Approval of an additional $25,801 for jail operations in 1964 has been granted.

Unpaid Account Claim Filed

Black Creek Firm Wants Payment on Work for Brennan

KAUKAUNA — Murphy Construction Co., Black Creek, has filed a claim with Kaukauna for an unpaid account by another firm hired to do sewer work for the city.

Murphy claims they were not paid for sand delivered to Brennan Construction Co. who was doing the sewer work. The common council referred Murphy's claims to the city attorney for advice.

Since the firm had not finished the project, aldermen felt the city was not obligated and questioned whether a performance bond submitted by the contractor would have a bearing on settling the issue.

The director of public works was authorized to enter into agreement with Joseph Van Daalwyk to secure a large grader with a plow attachment and an operator for use on the south side at the rate of $12 per hour. This will permit concentrating city equipment on the north side.

Aldermen recommended to the legislative committee a change in the city ordinance which would eliminate a $300 per acre plat fee and replace it with an assessment of $1 per side foot toward installation of all storm sewers on all streets to be developed and opened by the city after Jan. 1, 1964.

It was felt such an assessment would serve practically the same purpose as the plat fee and would be less offensive to land developers.

The council accepted the bid of Hardware Mutuals Insurance Co. for workmen's compensation at an annual fee of $7,618.48 and public liability insurance at a fee of $1,972.29 when an irregularity was found in the second bid received.

Two Christmas Eve Services Slated at Clintonville Church

CLINTONVILLE — The choirs of St. Martin Lutheran Church will present two identical Christmas Eve concert services at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

The 120 voices of the children, youth and senior choirs are singing carols of many lands. The theme of the service is "Unto Us A Son is Born, Who is Christ, the Lord."

Each service will close with the candle light singing of "Silent Night" by choirs and congregation.

William Heuser, Seymour, left, is explaining the operation of a tape recorder at the Stout State College audio-visual center to Duane Winterfeldt, Shiocton. Winterfeldt was one of 350 high school seniors who visited the Stout campus to acquaint themselves with the school's educational opportunities. Heuser is a college senior.

Michigan as Water Source Criticized

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues threw cold water Tuesday on a proposal that Appleton proceed with tapping Lake Michigan for a long-range water supply.

As a result, the board of public works decided the city should have another study made to determine whether the city should go to Lake Winnebago or Lake Michigan with a pipeline.

During a meeting at city hall, the board selected four consulting firms—excluding the Chicago firm which has been the Appleton Water Department consultant for 20 years—to be consulted for preparing a water feasibility study.

Bues made it obvious he favored Lake Winnebago now as a grade two, and then in Michigan when other cities in the Fox River Valley may be ready to do so. Bues said he was making his suggestion in the interest of good regional planning.

St. Martin Grades Giving Christmas Show

CLINTONVILLE — "The Real Meaning of Christmas" is the theme of a program to be presented at St. Martin Lutheran Church by grades one through four at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

"The Christmas Story" will be sung. Others to perform include grade four: "Let Us All With Glad Voice;" "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem;" "As Each Happy Christmas," and "Away In A Manger," grade one.

Following recitations there will be a song, "Why Do Bells Chime on Christmas Ring?" by grade three; "Winds Through the Olive Trees," by the children, and "Silent Night," by the congregation and children.

In the other games, Michigan edged Indiana 29-27 with Raul Reyes hitting 17 points for the winners and Larry Dimmock counting 10 for the losers. Minnesota, paced by Tom Doyle's 12 points, won a 31-23 decision over Wisconsin. Gary Peterson led the losers with nine points.

In the sudden death playoff Minnesota topped Illinois 22-20 to break a tie.

Northwestern and Iowa now have three wins and no losses. Michigan and Minnesota are tied for second with two wins and one loss apiece, followed by Purdue and Wisconsin with one win and two losses and Indiana and Illinois with no wins and three losses.

Lutheran School to Stage Yule Program

NEW LONDON — The Emanuel Lutheran School children will have a Christmas program at 6:30 and 8 p.m. Sunday.

Children in grades two and three will sing "To Thee My Heart I Offer;" grades four and five, "Thou Holy Jesus, Meek and Mild;" grades six, seven and eight, "Hail to the Lord's Anointed," and the children's choir, "The Little Village Slept."

Foundry Workers Aid Crash Victim's Family

NEENAH — Neenah Foundry men, fellow workers of Howard H. Abhold, of Fremont, who was killed in a car accident Friday night and left behind a wife and 14 children, are making good progress in their relief fund for the family, according to Harold Dahl, president of the foundry men's union.

"We're still collecting throughout the shop and have received private donations through the mail," Dahl said.

Local 121 of the International Molder and Allied Workers' Union which has 430 members is conducting the campaign Dahl said, adding, "We're happy to receive anything that will help the unfortunate Abhold family."

He said that donations, gifts or assistance of any type can be sent to the Neenah Foundry men, fellow workers of Howard H. Abhold, in care of the union, and he will see that the Abholds receive them.

Christmas Concert Set At Marion

MARION — The music department of Marion High School will present a concert of Christmas music at 8 p.m. today in the high school gym.

High school senior band selections will include "Adagio Cantabile," "Noel," "The Impresario Overture," "The Toy Shop," "Rienzi," Themes from Grieg and "Sleigh Ride." The band and senior chorus will join in a medley of Christmas songs to conclude the program.

Chorus selections will be "O Come Oh Come Emmanuel," "Beautiful Saviour," "The Christmas Song," "Make a Joyful Noise," "Twas the Night Before Christmas" and "Hallelujah Chorus."

Connie Bohr and Sherry Nehring will accompany the chorus.

The junior band, comprised of seventh and eighth graders, will present "Alleluia," "Christmas Suite" and "A Little Hande Suite."

Directing all groups will be James W. Mevenden Sr.

Candlelight Service

ROYALTON — A candlelight service on Christmas Eve has been planned by the United Church of Christ.

Dahl described Abhold as "doing a real good job both at the foundry and at home with his family of 14 children."

The children range in age from seven months to 20 years. There are nine sons and five daughters, and all live at home. Complicating the situation is the fact that the two oldest Abholds are currently unemployed, having been laid off from their jobs.

Schmieder Heads Calumet Bar

CHILTON — F. J. Schmieder was elected president of the Calumet County Bar Association at the court house Tuesday.

Other men elected to office were Donald E. Bunk, vice president, and William Engler Jr., secretary-treasurer.

The legal aid society was discussed at the meeting. The society was formed by the association to assist people who need an attorney and cannot afford a fee. A committee was formed to work out a rotation plan for the society.

Recommendations also were made in respect to the courthouse library.

The association has ten members.

Police Hunt for Killer Of Black Creek Woman

Kemps said an autopsy performed late Tuesday night in Appleton showed that the woman had not been sexually molested.

Found Wife

He walked through a small gateway into the kitchen where he found his wife lying on the floor. Kilsdonk told authorities he ran from the home and drove to a neighbor, Mrs. Edward Ketter, route 1, Black Creek, where he asked Mrs. Ketter to call the sheriff.

County police and investigators were sent to the scene immediately. Kilsdonk was questioned and is scheduled to appear at the sheriff's department for questioning again today. He was tidy and intact. Spice said investigators he would be willing to take a lie detector test.

The assailant apparently entered through the rear door, authorities said, because the front door was still securely locked. A radio was playing and a bag of peanuts was on the table.

Only Child

The couple's only child, Jeffrey, lay on a pile of diapers on the kitchen table. He was dressed in a small shirt and diaper.

Mrs. Kilsdonk apparently was sitting on a kitchen chair when the assailant entered the kitchen. She had been shucking peanuts, authorities said. Authorities theorize that the murderer may have been known to Mrs. Kilsdonk.

After a struggle in the kitchen, the assailant fled through the rear door. He apparently did not go into any other part of the house.

Breakfast dishes were still in the sink. Kilsdonk said he had breakfast with his wife about 4:29 a.m. She sometimes went back to bed for a while after he left for work, he stated. The baby was not awake when Kilsdonk went to wake him, said.

Planned to Bake

Kilsdonk said his wife planned to bake cookies and candy for the holiday season Wednesday and apparently was preparing a batch of peanut candy mix when she was attacked.

Authorities said the woman was clad in a housecoat and wearing pajama tops. Her glasses had been knocked to the side of her head in the struggle and she had lost one blue slipper near the archway from an anteroom.

Investigators have collected blood specimens found at the scene and are holding for inspection the baby blanket which bore a bloody handprint. Spice said the print may be that of Kilsdonk who may have grabbed the baby after examining his wife's body, and immediately running from the house to get help. A bloody print was found on the doorknob also.

The remainder of the home was tidy and intact. Spice said $200 was lying on a bedroom chest but was not touched. The bed had not been made. The assailant apparently entered through the rear door, bore no signs of struggle.

Authorities said, because the front door was still securely locked. A radio was playing and a bag of peanuts was on the table.

Merchants in Muskegon, Mich., had little to do but shovel snow Wednesday as the Christmas shopping rush ground to a halt under 30 inches of snow. Lake Michigan was one of the reasons the Port City was buried in snow as less than 20 miles inland there was only 5 inches of snow on the ground. Records Fall Almost Daily At Muskegon

Near zero weather prevailed in sections of the Northeast while generally normal temperatures prevailed in the Far Western sections.

Heavy snow piled up in the northern section of the nation today while intense cold cracked records.

A storm dropped 14 inches of snow on Nantucket Island off the Massachusetts coast, and 10 inches in Montpelier, Vt., 9 inches in Falmouth, Mass., and 7 inches in Benning, Vt., and Rumford, Maine.

A mass of frigid air enveloped the North from the Rockies to mean a day off from school for to 27 in Jacksonville.

Laird Urges Passing Of Money Bill for Mental Retardation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Passage of a bill to appropriate $41.8 million in combatting mental retardation was urged today by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis.

Laird, who joined with Chairman John E. Fogarty, D-R.I., of a House Appropriations subcommittee in drafting the measure, said its passage would provide a giant step forward in the nation's continuing struggle against the incidence of mental retardation.

"The problem of mental retardation has been with us a long time and the incidence has grown rather than decreased over the years," Laird said in a prepared House speech.

Laird, observing that the nation's mentally retarded is estimated at 5 to 6 million, said: "It is further estimated that about 3 per cent of the more than 4 million children born each year are, or will be classified as mentally retarded."

120 Head of Cattle Trapped on Isle

KENNEBEC, S.D. (AP) — Workmen struggling in subzero temperatures said today there appeared little hope of saving 120 head of cattle trapped on an island in the Missouri River.

Fire Chief Joe Heib of Reliance, S.D., said the cattle were standing belly deep in water but refused to swim to shore through an alley chopped and blasted in the ice.

The cattle were stranded after walking onto a sandbar when the U.S. Corps of Engineers shut off water releases at Big Bend Dam because of an icing condition.

The cattle are owned by the Johnson Cattle Co., of nearby Reliance.

Long Mourning Period May Bring Test Suit

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — They were arrested during a demonstration protesting the membership of Fred Lins on the Community Social Development planning a test suit for damages from the state, claiming authorities ordered too many days of mourning.

The association said many inn-keepers had serious losses because of the no-dance, no-juke, death of Theodor Heuss, former box mourning periods pro-West German president.

State Employees Hail Pension Study Funds

Findings Could Affect State,
Local Policies

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The Wisconsin State Employees Association has hailed a retirement fund study appropriation by the legislature as a significant step toward establishing a new pension policy for thousands of state government service workers.

The association wants to change the existing annuity purchase plan for state employee retirement benefits to a formula plan that would assure minimum benefits upon retirement for all employees in a relation to their total earning experience.

Such a program would be more costly for the state, but it also would provide more stability in the pension system which is now susceptible "to erosion through inflation," according to the employee union.

Actual Study
The legislature recently set up a $30,000 fund for an extensive actuarial study of the state retirement fund which was set up nearly two decades ago.

Since local government pension programs in Wisconsin are associated with the state retirement fund, any conclusions or recommendations arising out of the study presumably would relate to municipal and county pension policies also.

The association said an adequate level of retirement benefits can be defined as one that assures 50 to 60 per cent of final earnings at the age of 65 years after 35 years of service, including social security income.

There is now a grave question that such a level of benefits can be provided under the existing so-called "money purchase" plan of individual employee annuities, the association said, citing previous studies of the matter.

New Use for Money Collected for Party

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Members of the officers rotary wing a viator course at Ft. Rucker usually pitch in on a graduation party. This year they collected $165, but there'll be no party.

The base banned all parties in respect to the late President John F. Kennedy.

The money, instead, was sent to 13-month-old Margaret Ann Langford and her family to have a happier Christmas.

Margaret Ann is the only survivor of a recent train-car crash which killed 11 members of her family.
